Another Hungary Clash

Demonstrators Battle As Two Opposing Groups Have Chance Encounter on Street

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States bitterly protested to Russia today against the use of Soviet military force against "helpless" Hungarian civilians.

The protest was based directly on a report that a line of Russian tanks drew up on the sidewalk in front of the U. S. legation in Budapest with guns turned on Hungarian demonstrators and thereby prevented their approaching the building.

BUDAPEST (AP)—Pro-government and nationalist demonstrators clashed in Budapest today and eyewitnesses said at least two men were killed and several were wounded.

The clash started when a group of about 100 demonstrators siding with Premier Janos Kadar and carrying red flags met another group of about the same size bearing the Great Boulevard shortly after noon.

The Nationalists tried to wrest the Red flag from the hands of the Communists and a general fist fight got under way.

The Communists were escorted protectively by Russian armored cars. Some unidentified person fired a volley above the heads of the demonstrators.

The whole boulevard was emptied in a minute. Russian tanks and armored cars rumbled up and down the street, apparently to frighten residents of the city.

Members of the Hungarian officer corps stood at the corners with tommyguns ready for action. They said a sniper was shooting from a window, but they could not find him.

Farther down the boulevard, toward the Danube and on Marx Square the crowd refused to disperse and packed the sidewalks in an challenging mood.

Earlier, workers had struck spontaneously in several Budapest factories in protest against the rough handling of demonstrators yesterday by Soviet troops and Hungarian police. The Budapest workers council had advised against a general strike.

The huge factories in the industrial complex on Csepel Island where workers made their stubborn stand against the Russians during the recent revolution, were working as usual. Ten large Russian tanks stood near the factory gates.

Most buses and street cars were in operation in Budapest.

New posters throughout the city called for an "hour of silence" from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m. Residents were requested not to go out on the streets during this period.

Strikes were called largely in factories where members of the worker councils had been arrested yesterday on orders of the Russians. About 50 such arrests were made.

"We told the workers that a strike would only serve the government in its fight against us by splitting our unity," members of the Budapest Workers Council said.

Community Concert Will Be Held Tonight

The second Community Concert will be held tonight at 8:15 p. m. in the Smith-Cotton High School auditorium. Aldo Parisot, cellist, will be the guest artist.

Colonel Kline Is Commander At Whiteman

Lt. Col. Robb Takes Former Duties As Deputy Commander

Col. Richard W. Kline assumed active command of the 340th Air Base Group on Saturday. The new base commander is a native of Haskell, Tex., and came to Whiteman from the Air University where he graduated from the 1956 Air War College in June.

Prior to going to Air War College Col. Kline was Chief of Special Weapons Branch in the Inspector General's office at USAF Headquarters, Washington, D. C.

Col. Kline actually came to Whiteman in July but has been attending Strategic Air Command orientation courses, lecturing, and received B-47 transitional training during the past months. Lt. Col. Harry W. Robb, base commander since Col. Charles V. Neil's assignment to the deputy wing commander's post, has resumed his former duties as deputy base commander.

Col. Kline graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1941 with a bachelor of science degree and a commission of second lieutenant, cavalry. The colonel transferred to the Army Air Corps in 1942 and began pilot training at that time. He was later appointed commanding officer of the 6th Bomb Group and served with that unit until 1945.

During World War II Col. Kline, a senior pilot, served in the Panama Canal Zone and in the South Pacific, where he flew 140 B-29 combat hours against the Japanese and was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal, and numerous other service medals. From 1945-1948 Col. Kline served at Guam, Okinawa and Japan.

Charged With Contempt—Ten Persons Face Judge On Warrants in Race Issue

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—Ten more of the 16 persons accused in racial violence which closed integrated Clinton High School Tuesday faced a federal judge today as officials made plans to reopen the school.

U.S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor of nearby Knoxville issued criminal contempt warrants for the 16 yesterday, charging them with violation of a court order forbidding interference with integration of the school.

Fifteen of them—14 men and one woman—were in jail at Knoxville within a few hours. The 16th, another woman, was picked up this morning. Identified as Mary Nell Currier, she was listed among those posting $10,000 bond for segregationist John Kasper, who was sentenced by Taylor to a year in prison for violating the same injunction last August.

Kasper has appealed. Six of those arrested were arraigned last night. Included was W. H. Till, chairman of the pro-segregation White Citizens Council. All denied the charges.

There also was a report that steps have been taken to see if bail can be revoked for John Kasper, 26, who has appealed Taylor's one-year sentence on a similar charge in previous disorders at school opening last August.

The Anderson County School Board, which had ordered the school closed Tuesday "until further notice," decided after the 15 arrests last night to reopen the school next Monday if possible.

The closing followed a series of increasingly numerous racial incidents climaxed Tuesday by the

Eden's Chances Debated

London Newspapers Agree Conservatives Will Win, But Prime Minister Job Shaky

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden's government was expected to win a House of Commons vote tonight keeping it in office, but Britain's big newspapers split about even on Eden's chances of holding his own job.

Three nationally distributed dailies said Eden is finished and will have to make way for another give the party a new lease on political life.

Three other papers thought Eden would hold on. One said maybe he could, and another—the Times of London—voiced no opinion.

As Commons went into the closing round of debate on the Suez invasion, the Conservatives closed ranks in preparation for the vote of confidence on the wisdom of the military venture and the current withdrawal from the Suez Canal zone.

A dozen or so Conservatives were expected to abstain in the voting, in silent disapproval of the withdrawal without insuring international control of the canal. With the government's over-all majority at 59 votes, a minor rebellion would not force it to resign.

But criticism was rising in the Conservative ranks against Eden, resting in Jamaica from "severe overstrain" and due back in about 10 days. Some influential Conservatives were saying the Prime Minister would be under heavy pressure to resign soon after he gets back, making way for another Conservative to take over without a general election the party this time might lose.

Eden's continuing in office was opposed for a variety of reasons by varying groups in his own party. Some thought he should not have ordered the invasion of Egypt, or should not have kept the United States in the dark about his plans. One faction of diehards was bitter at the pullout leaving President Nasser in control of both Egypt and the canal. Many were concerned over the rift with the United States and the economic crisis ahead.

Acting Prime Minister R. A. Butler was the likeliest man to become prime minister should Eden step out, but there was some feeling he was too closely identified with the decision to move against Egypt. Two dark-horses mentioned were Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd and Sir Winston Churchill's son-in-law Housing Minister Duncan Sandys. Both have remained outside the Suez controversy.

Moisture Is Forecast For Most of State In Various Forms

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Missouri is in for precipitation with the northern portion expected to get some of the nasty kind.

Occasional freezing rain or drizzle is forecast for the northern sections tonight and Friday. Elsewhere over the state showers or thundershowers are expected.

Much colder weather is forecast for the central and south portions this afternoon.

Low tonight is expected to be 20 in the northwest to 50 in the extreme southeast. Friday's highs will be from the 20s in the northwest to the upper 50s in the extreme southeast.

Acid Hurling Case Goes Before Jury

Three Are On Trial For Helping Telvi To Flee Arrest

NEW YORK (AP)—The case of three men charged with conspiracy in the acid blinding of labor writer Victor Riesel was given to a federal court jury today.

Judge William B. Herlands completed an hour and a quarter charge, directed the jury to go to lunch and to begin its deliberations at 2 p. m.

The three are on trial on charges of conspiring to obstruct justice by helping Abe Telvi flee arrest and prosecution after the acid attack last April 5.

Four other men will be tried shortly on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice in the actual acid attack plot—an alleged attempt to intimidate Riesel from testifying before a federal grand jury investigating racketeering in the trucking and the garment manufacturing industries.

U.S. Atty. Paul W. Williams said in summation that the three men on trial are equally culpable.

The prosecutor called the acid blinding a "subhuman" crime "committed by the parasites, the dregs, the subhuman men who live in this asphalt jungle."

Referring to a defense statement that Miranti had been "brainwashed" into talking and had suffered a "rape of the mind" by the FBI, Williams told the jury: "The suggestion of brainwashing is impudent slander on the FBI—an impudent slander which you as citizens should resent."

Williams said, "This is one case in which the defendants are entitled to no mercy and no sympathy."

The defendants—none of whom took the witness stand—could be sentenced to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine each if convicted.

Bando's attorney Aaron Silver did not make a summation. Bando has sat mute since the trial began Nov. 13, contending his constitutional rights were violated after his arrest.

Telvi's lawyer Chester A. Kleinberg contended that the defendant "had no hand" in planning the attack on Riesel on a street just off Broadway in the early morning dark. His client "didn't know anything about it," the lawyer said.

Variety of Merchandise—

Christmas Season Brings Brightly Colored Windows

By Hazel Lang

Up and down the streets they go, looking in the bright Christmas windows, into the gayly decorated stores loaded with gifts of every description, women with big packages and little ones, men pondering what to buy their wives and their girl friends, their mothers, sisters, daughters; children eager and wide-eyed—everybody in a happy mood—this fascinating, captivating, delicious time of year filled with Christmas excitement.

And never have the windows been so full of wonderful things for the Christmas season. In one window is the feminine little bunk bed in white with edges of gold, with white net with ruffles and lace festooned around it. On top is a mischievous fairy with a long feather that keeps tickling the nose of the sleeping fairy (or are they angels?) on the lower bed. The sleeping fairy keeps shaking her head and at the side another one stands holding a lighted candle. Around are little boys and girls and many darling little clothes from pajamas to dresses and undies, and, of course, toys.

Another window has a friendly old Santa in his red velvet suit and his long flowing silken white beard. He keeps nodding to the youngsters and waving. Around him, too, are toys and candy canes.

Then there are the windows filled with everything her heart could wish for; cocktail dresses and flowered or feathered hats in lovely blue against a background of silver tinsel; housecoats in red and sheer white and negligee over a matching nightgown. Dresses of black and of red for Christmas and New Year's parties against a wrought iron lattice covered with gold balls and another lattice with gold and white poinsettias on which is a lovely gold quilted skirt, and many dainty blouses.

A green background with a white inset like new fallen snow on which are large leaves of green foil paper and Christmas-looking green ornaments with small red balls as centers form a setting in one store window for a white lace party dress, pink gowns and red gowns, and lots of lovely costume jewelry and cosmetics. Another window had a background of pink stockings overflowing with Christmas packages and holly, all done in pink and blue and in the window too, an array of pink lingerie as delicate as apple blossoms in the spring. A big wreath of green foil paper leaves held a half slip of white in another window and here were robes, purses, gloves and more undies.

"Tis Christmas" reads a card on a big red and white package in another window, where the variety of things is wide. Evergreen borders the red background in another window and on the floor is snow. These large windows are glittering with frilly petticoats. (Please turn to Page 10, Col. 3)

Announce Plans For Air-Sea Lift Of Refugees to US

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower's headquarters today announced plans for a massive air-and-sea-lift of Hungarian refugees to this country.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said that of the total of 21,500 refugees to be given asylum in the United States, the Air Force and the Navy will provide transportation for 15,000.

The remaining 6,500 will be brought here by an inter-governmental committee on European migration which has been in the picture from the start.

Referring to the Air Force and Navy operation planned, Hagerty said:

"We believe this will be the largest such operation in peacetime history."

US Is Expected To Give Island Economic Help

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced today Iceland had dropped its demand that U. S. troops there be called home.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Iceland have reached complete agreement on continued American operation of the strategic air base at Keflavik, halfway between Moscow and Washington.

Under the agreement, which is expected to be announced soon, the U.S. government is expected to provide economic assistance to the island republic whose government faces a prospective 30-million-dollar deficit.

Informants said the understanding provides for quick resumption of work on expansion of the Keflavik base, a project costing about 12 million dollars a year.

Work was interrupted several months ago when the government of Iceland notified the United States and the North Atlantic Treaty Council that it wanted U.S. troops withdrawn and the base put in stand-by condition with Iceland—which has no military force—taking responsibility for its maintenance. About 4,000 men make up the U.S. military force.

American authorities at the base will undertake to give maximum permanent employment to Icelanders. This may involve some system for making use of local workmen in the months when they are not engaged in fishing, which is Iceland's biggest industry.

The agreement for U. S. forces to stay on constitutes a reversal of the Icelandic government's position. The shift is attributed to Russia's tough behavior in the Hungarian and Middle East crisis. These were said to have convinced Icelanders that world peace was not as secure, and world tensions had not declined as much, as they estimated last spring when they demanded that the strategic air base be put in reserve with U.S. forces pulling out entirely.

Under the old arrangement the United States maintained forces in Iceland as an agent of NATO. The new set-up is understood to be a two-government affair, by-passing NATO.

Challenges News Media to Push Use of Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Folsom challenged the nation's news media today to urge use of abundant polio vaccine with the same emphasis they used in covering the story of vaccine scarcity.

Folsom said in a speech prepared for a National Press Club audience:

"Children are just as susceptible to polio as they ever were—unless they are inoculated with vaccine."

"Today, supplies of the vaccine are plentiful for both children and young adults."

"But we have a new danger—the danger of public apathy."

"It is ironic that, in the face of such a dread disease, large quantities of antipolio vaccine are not being used. They are piled up in warehouses and sitting on drugstore shelves."

"Unless vaccine is promptly used, many persons will suffer paralysis or even death—next year—who could have been spared."

"When the vaccine was scarce and the government and manufacturers were desperately trying to increase the supply, the vaccine then was the subject of massive news and editorial attention."

Miss Jean Wegener, sang "Dear Grandmother" to her grandmother, Mrs. Lela Wegener, as she was invested with the badge of her office. Mrs. Mary Ann Chambers sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" to E. J. Railton as he was invested with the badge of his office.

After the installation of the new officers, Mrs. Virginia Hert, retiring Worthy Matron, presented gifts to her star point officers of last year in an impressive ceremony.

Gifts were presented to Mrs. Hert by Mrs. Lela Wegener in behalf of her 1956 officers and to J. E. Steiner, retiring Worthy Patron by Arthur Hagemeyer.

A pin was presented to Mrs. Wegener by Mrs. Lula Mae Bosch, District Deputy. A gift was also presented to Mrs. Wegener by her granddaughter, Little Miss Ruth Ann Foley. A gift was presented to E. J. Railton by his wife Mrs. Anna Railton.

After short talks given by several members and guests, coffee, tea and cake were served in the dining room from a tea table covered with a linen cloth. The centerpiece was a Horn of Plenty with tapers and ribbons in the color of the star points. The officers assisted with the pouring and serving the cake.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. J. R. Popejoy, Mrs. L. E. Bessette, Mrs. Ray Stewart and Mrs. Carl Wise.

Turncoat Says Experience Disillusioning

SEATTLE (AP)—An Illinois farm boy who refused repatriation after his capture by the Reds during the Korean War said last night he was disillusioned in his 3½-year search for "peace" in Communist China.

But Arley Pate, 26, of Carbondale, Ill., declined to give his definition of "peace." He said there was as much "peace" in the United States as there was in China.

The talkative Pate, dressed in a shabby, blue, Chinese-tailored suit, arrived here from Tokyo with Aaron Wilson of Urania, La., another Korean War POW who cast his lot with China when prisoners were exchanged in 1953.

Pate and Wilson, a shy, quiet kid of 25, crossed over the Chinese border at Hong Kong Sunday after telling the Communists they wanted to return home.

Their applications for repatriation, filed Oct. 29, were acted upon speedily by the Reds, Pate said.

Wilson declined to answer questions. Pate said he decided to return because of the illness of his father, the recent death of his brother Ronald in a swimming accident and "other reasons."

Pate's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Pate of Carbondale.

Pate said all he wanted to do was to return to Carbondale and work on his father's farm.

Asked if he considered himself a traitor, Pate replied: "No, sir, I never have thought of myself as a traitor."

In China, Pate worked in the machine repair shop of a Tsinan paper mill. He said he was paid the equivalent of $90 a month.

Wilson said he studied Chinese language at a Tsinan school.

Of the 21 Americans who decided to go to Red China after the Korean War, only 14 remain. Four others returned ahead of Pate and Wilson and one died in Red China.

Man Sends Thank You To Redding Police

REDDING, Calif. (AP)—Since 1933 Redding police have received an annual Christmas card from Phil Goldfaden, Long Branch, N.J.

"Back in 1933 as a hobo I'll never forget the kindness of your police and people and so I wish to send my thanks," this year's card said.

Chief Scott Linecum said no one remembered Goldfaden.

"But," Linecum commented, "in 1933 we put a lot of itinerants in the lockup so they wouldn't starve."

Four Persons Killed, Other Injured in Two Chemical Firm Blasts

EAST ALTON, Ill. (AP)—All three men working in a storage shed for nitroglycerin solvent apparently were blown to bits at the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. yesterday.

Parts of two bodies were found. A third man was listed as missing and presumed dead.

A few hours later one employee was killed and four others were injured in an explosion at the firm's chemical plant in Niagara Falls, N.Y.

The East Alton blast demolished three buildings and damaged three others. It erupted a ball of fire which set several buildings ablaze.

Twenty-seven persons were hurt four seriously.

The dead here were listed as William Schoenbaum, 61, Floyd F. Wisnasky, 36, and Gerald Dillard, 54.

Says Normal Oil Shipments May Take Full Year

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A government oil official said today it may take a full year to restore normal oil transportation channels disrupted because of the Suez Canal crisis.

H. A. Stewart, director of the Interior Department's Office of Oil and Gas, told the Interstate Oil Compact Commission that although the Suez Canal may be cleared in six months, it may take a year to restore damaged pipelines to normal capacity.

Meantime, the United States is stepping up its domestic production both to meet its own needs and to help relieve a serious shortage in Europe.

"It would appear then," Stewart said in prepared remarks, "that we are looking at a foreign petroleum shortage which might be reduced greatly by the middle of next year and perhaps entirely corrected a year from now."

"Meanwhile, however, stocks of crude oil and products both here and abroad will be seriously depleted."

"Consequently, abnormal efforts must be made to rebuild these to a reasonable level and at the same time make maximum contributions to current demands at home and abroad."

Stewart told the state oil officials the federal government does not plan to suggest to any state how it should handle its controls of production.

"Without any curtailment in the supply of petroleum products in the nation's domestic market," he said, "this country will be able to contribute materially to the supply so critically essential in Europe."

French Leader Is Attracting More Attacks

PARIS (AP)—The Suez fiasco and the unending Algerian war have brought French Premier Guy Mollet under increasing political attack, but most political observers agree the government is not in danger—yet.

The trouble might come when the bills roll in and the budget must be voted in January.

By then, if he makes it, Mollet will have been 12 months in office, a postwar rarity in France. Until now he has weathered the Suez crisis with far less difficulty than British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden.

The job which has hurt Mollet worst came from 17 deputies in his own Socialist party. Declaring themselves in line with Britain's Labor party in condemning the Suez affair, the 17 protested that the government's "pacification" policy in Algeria had also failed and should be scrapped. They demanded the immediate calling of a special party congress to discuss the next moves.

There has been sniping too from the far left, right and center of the National Assembly.

Perhaps because of these indications of dirty parliamentary weather ahead, the Premier today sought and obtained from the Cabinet permission to stake his future on a confidence vote when the Assembly debates the treaty returning the Saar to Western Germany next week.

But the biggest threat to Mollet will come in January, just a year after he took office. With military expenses outrunning estimates and tax receipts down—both largely because of Suez—the 1957 budget may be largely outdated even before it is voted.

By then too the worst may be known about the economic effects of the blocking of the Suez Canal. Gasoline normally gives a big revenue boost to the government, which nets about 48 cents on every gallon sold. The planned 30 per cent cut in its consumption will slash tax receipts an estimated $385,700,000.

That is just a beginning. Three quarters of the oil used in France goes to industry in various forms. Tax losses because of reduced

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Five Poles whose last names are Babinski, Gorynski, Zenczykowski, Iwanowski and Podwapinski held a news conference yesterday.

The first question:

"How does it happen your last names all end in s-k-i?"

Replied Dr. Julius Gorynski, director of the Institute of Apartment House Construction for Poland:

"That is quite simple."

"All Norwegian names are ending in s-e-n."

The five are touring the United States to study construction practices.

Youngster Sends Key to Santa Claus

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—A local youngster isn't taking any chance that Santa Claus will get stuck in the chimney. Among the letters in a special box for Santa's mail at the Laramie post office was one which contained the usual request for toys—and the key to the front door of his parents' house.

Parent Uses Self-Imposed Suffering For Submission

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Sometimes Mrs. Boyd's son, away at college, lets five days go by without writing her. Then she writes him like this: "Darling Russ—Is something wrong? If so, let Mother know. It's a week since I heard from you. Last night I never closed my eyes, worrying about whether you were all right."

This letter will stimulate Russ's sense of obligation to his mother. It will make unnecessary, self-imposed insomnia seem to be his fault. He will not think, "Non-sense. I owe Mother nothing for her decision to stay awake all night. It was foolish, putting no joy in my heart, no money in my bank account." Russ, just as his mother wishes him to, will accept her sleepless night as a favor to him.

Mrs. Boyd is a mother who uses suffering to control her children. Her "worry" over Russ is a carefully calculated exchange of suffering for his submission to her. She hasn't any idea that this is true. She doesn't know that she suffers over him to make it impossible for him to ever say, "No, Mother."

But the strength of her wish to control him is exposed in the acuteness of her disappointment when ever he makes a decision she doesn't like—when he spends a weekend with his roommate's family instead of coming home; when his letters are short, not reporting all his doings; when he shuts the hall door on telephone conversations with girls.

At these efforts of Russ to gain some control of his own life, his mother feels exactly like a cheated tradesman whose customer has refused to pay his bill.

Is it her wish to dominate him that makes her dangerous?

No. Most of us "sacrifice" so much more for children than we want to that the wish for a compensating control of their lives is almost inevitable. No—what makes

Mrs. Boyd's wish so deadly is the appearance of devotion she gives it. She wants not only to dominate; but to do it the religious glow of the saint's stained glass window. To secure manhood from mothers who disguise their domination as goodness and suffering. People who are concerned for the manhood of American boys get furious at mothers like Mrs. Boyd.

Firemen quickly extinguished the fires.

It's a Whiz at Everything a car should do

It turns out that the 1957 Buick is far more than just a brand-new automobile.

It turns out that this stunningly low-styled beauty is a wonderful new whiz at everything a car should do.

It turns out that this new '57 Buick is winning the raves with a new kind of going and a new kind of stopping—a new kind of handling and a new kind of road sureness—a new kind of safety and a new kind of comfort.

We'll be specific.

When you press the pedal of a new '57 Buick, the response is literally instant...

Because the high-torque power of a new 364-cubic-inch V8 engine is delivered in the split of a second through a new full-range Variable Pitch Dynaflo* that's immediate in its oil-smooth action.

When you brake to a stop, you and the car stay on a level plane...

Because an ingenious new ball-joint suspension in every '57 Buick virtually ends the down-in-front dip that cars have on sudden stops.

When you take a turn or swing into an "S" curve, you still hug the road like a streamliner on rails—

Because under you is a massive wide-frame new chassis that "nests" the whole car inches closer to the road with the lowest center of gravity in Buick history—yet with no change in road clearance.

And when you sit in the deep comfort of those soft wide seats, you can drive with the pleasant ease of a clear conscience, without watching the speedometer...

Because only in Buick today can you have an ingenious new Safety-Minder* that acts as a warning sentinel for the miles-per-hour you preset for yourself.

There are many other new things that make this gorgeous Buick a car of limitless wonders—from the bigger and more rakish windshield that makes seeing more relieving, to the extra roominess that's so surprising in this beauty with the sports-car lowness.

But there's nothing like a firsthand sampling to know how modern the newest thing on wheels really is. Come in today for your meeting with the newest Buick yet.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety-Minder standard on Roadmaster, optional other Series.

Says Shipment Of Fuse Cases Obeyed Rules

NEW YORK (AP)—A Connecticut firm says almost seven tons of detonating fuses — which some officials contend may have caused the terrific blast during a Brooklyn pier fire — were shipped "in strict conformity with all regulatory requirements."

The blaze and explosion last Monday killed 10 persons, injured 246 and caused damage estimated by city officials at 15 million dollars. A probe of the disaster continues — including the cause of the fire.

The Ensign Bickford Co. of Simsbury, Conn., said last night it shipped 1,950 cases of "Primacord" fuses to its West Coast distributor.

Stoughton S. Ellsworth, a company vice president, said "Primacord" is designated by the Interstate Commerce Commission as a Class C or minimum-hazard explosive. He said the fuse also has been approved by the Federal Bureau of Aeronautics for shipment via air freight.

City Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr., however, said yesterday that shipment of such a quantity of this material was of a "hazardous character."

Cavanagh also said the bill of lading was not marked "explosive" and carried only the warning sign, "Store away from heat." He added that no more than 1,000 pounds of explosive material may be stored here without notification to the Fire Department.

Robert W. Withers, a top Fire Department official, says such fuses constitute a high explosive of a type banned from shipment here eight years ago.

Cavanagh declined to say definitely that the fuses caused the blast on the Luckenbach Steamship Line pier. But he said experts had told him the amount on the pier could have caused it.

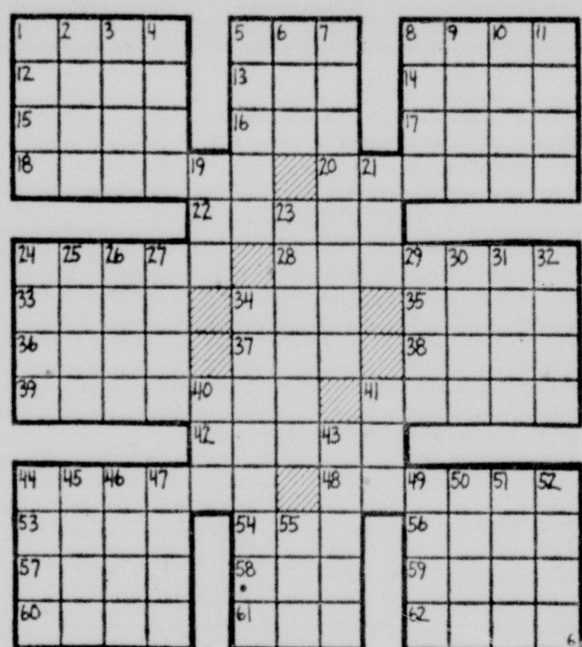

Ellsworth said the fuses would be explosive only when set off by

Mental State Of LaMarca Is Highlight

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Conflicting testimony on Angelo John LaMarca's mental condition at the time he snatched 32-day-old Peter Weinberger continues to highlight his trial on kidnap and murder charges.

Dist. Atty. Frank A. Gulotta called a loan company employee yesterday as a rebuttal witness to challenge the defense contention that LaMarca was temporarily insane from debts and other worries at the time of the kidnap-slaying.

Previously there had been conflicting diagnoses by prosecution and defense psychiatrists.

The prosecution's rebuttal witness was Henry C. Noll, a clerk for a loan company in Queens, New York City. He testified that LaMarca visited the office on July 5—the day after the baby was kidnaped and abandoned to die of suffocation in a honeysuckle thicket — and visited on later dates also.

The kidnaper, who demanded $2,000 ransom, pledged in the ransom note that he would return the baby to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger, of Westbury, N.Y., July 5.

LaMarca, who admits kidnaping the baby, has testified he was scared away from the vicinity of the Weinberger home on the morning of July 5 when he saw

Names Firm To Handle US Insurance

The Secretary of Defense has notified Mutual of Omaha that the company has been selected to administer the dependents medical care program for hospitalization and private nursing care in 17 states. Mutual of Omaha was informed of the decision Monday, Nov. 26, and on Dec. 1 complete kits and information were mailed by the company to 2,900 hospitals in the 17 states.

Mutual has established a medical care department under the administration of Roger Fearon. Fearon and George Boddiger, assistant treasurer of Mutual, met with the American Hospital Association in Chicago Dec. 4 and with representatives of the 17 states to explain to the hospital administrators the mechanics of the program which will become effective Dec. 7. Gale Davis, vice-president in charge of group operations for Mutual, will direct the program.

In the initial stages of the program, the government estimated that the entire project would cost the federal government in the neighborhood of 76 million dollars per year.

A projected estimate for the 17 states handled by Mutual of Omaha could run as high as 1 1/2 million per month. As prime contractor for the program, known as Bill 569, 84th Congress, Mutual's function will be to act as disbursing office and fiscal agent on a non-profit basis with only actual "out of pocket" expense being refunded by the government.

Paul I. Robinson, major general of the Medical Corps and executive director of the Office for Dependents' Medical Care, stated, "With the implementation of this law on Dec. 7, 1956, we in the uniformed services have entered a new field. The Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association of Omaha, Neb., has been selected as a prime contractor to effect payments to hospitals in the areas designated to be served by the insurance industry. We pledge every effort to make the program a success."

The following is a list of the states under Mutual of Omaha administration: South Dakota, North Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, South Carolina, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Georgia and Florida.

This new building will be a welcomed addition to the group campers, most of whom come from west-central Missouri, who use the facilities of Camp Bob White. This added improvement will make it one of the most attractive camps in the state park system. The building is 72 feet, 8 inches long and 42 feet wide, of very modern design and will require not additional illumination during the daylight hours. Wrap Gifts Professionally at Home Using Simple Pointers From Expert

By KAY SHERWOOD NEA Staff Writer

Would you like to know more about the art of wrapping a gift so that packages reflect your skill and cleverness instead of being productions of lumpy paper and knotted string?

Many of us would, judging from the lecture schedules of experts on the subject and the fact that the gift wrap industry has become an estimated 90-million-dollar-a-year business.

Not only at Christmas — all through the year we're called upon to dress up gifts for children, birthdays, anniversaries and weddings.

To get some professional pointers, I tracked down Lucille Lille, lecturer on gift wrapping and a field supervisor for one of the large gift wrap companies.

Miss Lille bases her tips on the questions most frequently asked by feminine audiences in all parts of the country.

To wrap a neat package, says Miss Lille, cut away excess paper. Allow enough in width of paper to overlap box two to four inches. Paper should extend over ends of box no more than three-fourths of the depth of box.

Fluffy bows are made by gathering loops of ribbon and tying tightly in the center. Some types of gift ribbon have instructions on the back of each cardboard roll. If you're using a patterned paper, match the ribbon's shade to a color that's in the pattern, not to one that's in the background.

At Christmas, especially, it's thrifty—and just as effective—to pick a color scheme and stick to it. This permits you to buy paper and ribbon in the large, economy rolls. And if the color scheme isn't strictly seasonal, you can use the leftovers for other occasions. Lille, is toward two-tone wrappings in such combinations as Nile green and emerald green, royal blue and light blue, gold and yellow.

Red Premier Endorses US Stand in Egypt

MADRAS, India (AP)—Premier Chou En-Lai of Communist China today endorsed the position taken by the United States in the U.N. debate on the Egyptian conflict. He described it as "correct," but then said he was "more concerned" about two other questions of American policy in the Middle East.

"Is the United States trying to take over British and French positions in Egypt and does the United States still support the British and French idea of international control of the Suez Canal?" Chou asked.

He added that he supported the policy of the African-Asian nations on Egypt "for an immediate withdrawal of British-French forces, with the United Nations supervising their withdrawal and helping clean up the canal."

The smiling Chinese leader, obviously enjoying his trip through India as part of his seven-nation tour of Asia, expressed his views at his first press conference since he arrived in India Nov. 28.

Chou evaded a direct reply to a question about 10 Americans still in Chinese jails. Asked to comment on Indian Minister V.K. Krishna Menon's remark in New York that he would not be surprised to see the Americans released soon, the Chinese Premier replied:

"Mr. Menon always has optimistic hopes." Then he added, "Mr. Menon is a very good friend of ours in the work for world peace."

Tebbo Homemakers In All Day Meeting

The Tebbo Homemakers Extension Club of near Windsor had an all day meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Lee Higgs. There were 16 members and ten visitors present. Visitors were: Mrs. John Ferry, Miss Annie Askins, Mrs. Oscar Campbell, Mrs. Charles Campbell and son, Mrs. Ethel Parks, Mrs. Lyman Avery, Mrs. Laura Owens, Mrs. Albert Funk and Sandra Hayhurst.

At the noon hour a contributed dinner was served.

The afternoon meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Rolla Askins and opened by singing the club song.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Askins followed by prayer. Roll call was answered by "What I would like to see done in our club next year." Thank you cards were read from Four Corners 4-H Club for help with their bake sale. A discussion was held on the kind of radio program to be held in the future.

The Christmas party will be Dec. 11 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Mitchell. A collection will be taken at the party for the American Bible Society.

Mrs. Wharton read parliamentary rules for the coming year. Mrs. Shy Miller read a request from Mrs. Evelyn Buell to help with bloodmobile. Pal gifts were distributed. Names were drawn for gift pals for 1957. Mrs. Ferry became a new member.

Roll call for the Christmas party will be something about Christmas. The work will be making cancer dressings.

Gift wrap expert Lucille Lille displays some of the package decorations which can be fashioned by the homemaker once she gets the "hang" of it. Box in foreground is wrapped as a wedding gift; at right is poinsettia-decked Christmas package, and at left is another Christmas wrap which features a star of cellulose drinking straws.

also permit a wide variety of effects. For example, a silver-wrapped box can take a red poinsettia decoration at Christmas, or a flitter-decked pink or white bow if it's for a wedding gift.

A poinsettia is made of tapered lengths of ribbon, tied in the middle and taped to a thin wire which has been covered with green ribbon. A flowerpot for the poinsettias can be made by cutting graduated lengths of ribbon and cellophane, then taping them together across the back.

Flitter or glitter from the dime store adds professional sparkle to many packages. Miss Lille brushes clear nail polish over ribbon edges, then scatters flitter on the still-damp polish.

Another trick is to dip the sticky side of cellulose or gift wrap tapes in flitter and secure them in a design on the package with colored tape. Or you can cut diamond-shaped openings in the loops of bows, stick cellulose tape to the underside and dip in flitter to get a stunning effect.

Lucille also likes the use of trinkets tied on "special occasion" packages. For a child (especially if the gift itself is more practical than thrilling) lollipops, a toy whistle, balloon or tiny animal adds glamour to the package. Dangle doll shoes on the baby present, add a tiny auto to the traveler's gift, tie a couple of miniature birds or butterflies to the get-well gift.

Sometimes the shape of the box suggests a design: a square box with alphabet letters cut from paper or tape looks like a child's block; the rectangular box (holding a man's tie, perhaps) can be trimmed up with dots to resemble a domino.

And to wrap a cylindrical box neatly, try this suggestion: Put box end-to-end on wrong side of paper, trace edges with pencil. Draw another circle about two inches larger and cut on outer circle. Clip in points about six times around the circle and tape to box side.

Then, circle the cylinder and hide the points with a band of paper cut to the exact height of the box.

Whiteman Men Give Money To AF Memorial

Chaplain (Lt. Col.) William F. Taylor, Jr., Eighth Air Force staff chaplain, announced this week that more than $2400, including over $86 collected at Whiteman Air Force Base, had been contributed by Eighth Air Force bases to the St. Clement Danes Fund Appeal. Whiteman, the home of the 340th Bomb Wing is a Strategic Air Command installation under the jurisdiction of Eighth Air Force.

The funds will help provide a pipe organ in the restored St. Clement Danes Church of London, England, as a memorial to the United States Air Force personnel killed during World War II.

St. Clement Danes Church, originally built during the reign of Alfred the Great, between 871 and 901 AD, was destroyed by Nazi bombing in May, 1941. It is being rebuilt by the Royal Air Force as a permanent memorial to RAF personnel lost during World War II.

At the request of Maj. Gen. Roscoe C. Wilson, commander of the Third Air Force, stationed in England, the USAF was allowed to share in the projects. It was agreed that all USAF-contributed funds would be applied to the cost of the new organ.

Many United States flying organizations operated from England during World War II, including the Eighth Air Force, whose headquarters was situated not far from the bombed-out church.

Ike's Relative Says Cooking 'All Bluff'

SEATTLE (AP)—One of President Eisenhower's close relatives says he is "all bluff." About cooking, that is.

The relative is Mrs. Edgar Eisenhower of Tacoma, Wash., the President's sister-in-law at whose home the President stayed while campaigning this fall.

"Being married to an Eisenhower," the sister-in-law told the Women's University Club yesterday, "I know the President's cooking is all bluff. He turns the knob on high, burns it to a crisp and that's all."

Police Hunt Someone To Take Prisoners

BALTIMORE (AP)—Police today were anxious to find someone who can relieve them of two unwanted and very smelly — jail inmates. Patrolmen Edward Esteridge and George Cook said they were "just doing their duty" when they picked up two "vagrant" goats and brought them to the station.

Survey Shows TV Influence On Children

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Now here's an interesting survey. True, it's a publicity gambit, but a legitimate one. It shows something of how children's eating habits are affected by television.

An old friend just swung off the stage coach from Chicago, his pockets stuffed with facts and figures about what was learned from questioning 1,000 kids who went with their parents to eat at Don Roth's New Blackhawk Restaurant there. Here are some of the things the bemused proprietor discovered:

In less than one week 22 kids were observed eating only the crusts of their bread. Why? "The man on TV said it's good for your teeth."

During one noonday period at the restaurant 8 of 11 children asked for a special new flavor of gelatin advertised just that morning on a highly rated children's show.

In one three-day period 16 children asked for buffalo steak, a savory dish not available in the restaurant. When asked why they wanted buffalo, they replied that their favorite cowboy had mentioned it on TV.

Spinach, extolled almost daily on a Chicago local children's program, was among the favorite foods ordered. Many, who ordered sandwiches, said their favorite TV program was one sponsored by a breadmaker whose commercials praise the virtues of sandwiches.

Then there was the little girl who ordered "Just a glass of water, please." She explained she was "dieting" in order to become "the size I ought to be" — as a persistent TV commercial was currently recommending.

Then there were two five-year-old boys who wanted "hunting" knives to carve their meat. Failing to obtain them, they started to eat with their table knives — until brought under parental restraint.

In about five years Roth plans another survey of kids to see if any changes have occurred in the eating habits of "our TV-trained children."

Says US May Become Second in Technology

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A University of California physicist said last night that the United States is in grave danger of becoming a second-rate power in science and technology.

Dr. Edward Teller told the closing session of the National Aeronautic Assn.'s convention that Russia has caught up with the U. S. in scientific work and threatens to surpass this country.

There is a "trend of things" which will find Russia the foremost power in scientific advancement within 10 years unless countered by the U. S., he said.

A Good World

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Some big boys roughed up 6-year-old Charles Johnson and took $2.50 he had collected while selling newspapers. Milton Burach of Phoenix heard about the robbery and sent police a $2.50 check to give to the lad so he'll know "it's a good world after all."

Giant Boeing 707, a 600-mile-an-hour jet transport, will soon be available for commercial aviation.

It takes a GIANT to move people

In aviation it takes a giant to move masses of people fast. In selling, too, it takes a giant to move the people... a giant who lives in every town, the daily newspaper.

This giant not only lives in every town but in practically every home—every day. And in the home the newspaper remains to be read, put down, picked up and read again, so that it's no trouble at all for a newspaper advertiser to make a local call. Daily newspaper circulation is at a new high—over 56,000,000.

Many of the ads in the paper will end up in a purse or a pocket because people habitually use the newspaper as a shopping guide. That's why advertisers—local, regional and national—spend more money in daily newspapers than in radio, television, magazines and outdoor combined.

To move a multitude of goods, you must move multitudes of people to action. Use "action" advertising. Use the daily newspaper.

All business is local...and so are all newspapers.

Optimists Get Talk on Army By Recruiter

When a boy enlists in the Army he gets a choice of branch and a choice of schools, M-Sgt. L. N. Fosburgh, U. S. Army Recruiting Officer with headquarters at the Post Office building, told members of the Optimist Club Tuesday noon at Bothwell Hotel.

There was much humor in M-Sgt. Fosburgh's talk and the manner in which he gave it. He told briefly of his army career, and stated that he now had nine counties to cover and his days frequently were 16 hours long and he traveled about 4,000 miles a month.

Sgt. Fosburgh said he was a New Englander but he felt that when he was ready to settle down it would be in Missouri. He said he liked Missouri better than any state he had ever been in, he found the people more friendly and he could go into the homes of boys he might or might not recruit and feel a welcome. The people in this area, he said, had been wonderful to him.

Stressing the fact that he never insisted on anybody enlisting but felt it was an opportunity for all boys since they all face years with the draft, and in enlisting they are offered a much better plan along with the choosing of the school.

Sgt. Fosburgh said that he liked the military life and liked the job he is now on. He told of several young men he had recruited and one very recently who had a letter from the adjutant general sending him to a school in Chicago. Often, he said, they are trained in things which they may follow in civilian life.

"The Army has changed a great deal," he told the former service men of the Optimist Club, "since you were in it."

Sgt. Fosburgh was introduced by Maurice Hogan.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. C. H. Blaich, president, with invocation by Maurice Hogan. Singing was led by Charles Hanna with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

Harold Cole was a visitor.

The Italian and Greek consuls here sent urgent appeals to their governments for evacuation ships to take away jittery civilian families before the bulk of the British-French military force departs.

Delegates Are Shocked Over Red Refusal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. delegates voiced shocked surprise today over Hungary's refusal to admit Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld Dec. 16. Some claimed it justified growing demands to throw out the Budapest delegation if it continues to flout U. N. authority.

"An affront to the secretary general and to the whole civilized world," declared U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. when told Budapest radio had announced the turnaround by pro-Soviet Premier Janos Kadar. The secretary general had offered to go to Budapest on the specified date to set up U. N. relief activities.

A U. N. spokesman said Hammarskjöld had received no official word up to last night from the Hungarian government about his proposed visit. Until such word came, he had no comment.

The reported refusal gave impetus to the move to revoke the Hungarian delegation's credentials if it does not accept other U. N. observers by Dec. 7. The Assembly fixed that deadline early yesterday when it adopted a U. S. backed resolution calling again for entry of observers to make a general survey of conditions in the revolt-wracked country.

Some diplomats expressed puzzlement over Budapest's claims it had received no official request for Hammarskjöld's visit. Hungarian Foreign Minister Imre Horvath himself had suggested the date after consulting at length with Hammarskjöld.

Told about the broadcast, Horvath merely shrugged and said, "Apparently my government did not agree with me."

The Budapest announcement, picked up in Vienna, came during the closing stages of the much-delayed general debate in the Assembly. It said:

"An authorized source today issued the following statement to MTI (official Hungarian news agency) in connection with reports that Hammarskjöld is intending to visit Budapest on Dec. 16.

"Concerning the date of this visit, the Hungarian government retains its unchanged opinion expressed in its letter to the United Nations secretary general on Dec. 1. The secretary general is welcomed by the government at a later time which would be suitable to both parties.

"In view of the fact that the Hungarian government has not received an official request fixing the date for the proposed visit and in addition to the fact that the mentioned date is not suitable for the Hungarian government, it follows that the Hammarskjöld visit will not take place on Dec. 16."

The laceration was about five inches long and necessitated several stitches to close.

He was taken to the Bothwell hospital in the Ewing ambulance where Dr. A. R. Maddox attended him.

Penn told police officers he did not know if he fell or was knocked down the stairway.

No injuries resulted about 5:25 p.m. Wednesday in a collision at Ninth and Ohio between a 1953 Plymouth driven by W. M. Dry, 423 East 14th, and a 1950 Pontiac driven by Maurine Elizabeth Lane, 1614 West 18th. The front portion of both cars were smashed.

Some property damage but no injuries resulted about 3:45 p.m. Wednesday in a collision in the alley between Main and Second at Osage between a 1949 Chevrolet driven by Thomas Homer Kinkle Jr., 125 East Boonville, and a 1950 Studebaker truck driven by Glenn Robert Henderson, 1721 West Third. The left front portion of the Chevrolet was damaged, and the right front portion of the Studebaker was smashed.

T-Sgt. William G. Haradon, of the Air Police Squadron, Whiteman AFB, escaped with minor hurts about 11:45 p.m. Wednesday when his car left the curve three miles west of LaMonte and overturned.

Haradon, driving a 1956 Ford station wagon, was headed west on Highway 50 and lost control of the vehicle as it started to make the north curve at the Thompson farm. The vehicle swerved across the highway to the left, went off the highway, struck a telephone pole, snapping it off, then rolled more than 75 feet down a fence row and crashed against another pole on the corner of the property.

The car was demolished. Passing airmen from the Whiteman AFB stopped and aided Haradon and took him in their car to the base hospital. At the hospital it was reported he suffered abrasions, slight cuts and bruises and his condition was not serious.

The injured sergeant told State Trooper Richard Joos that he was headed west from Sedalia and was driving about 45 miles per hour. However, Trooper Joos issued a State Patrol summons to Haradon to appear in Magistrate Court of Judge Frank T. Armstrong on Dec. 19 for careless and imprudent driving.

Parks' wrecker towed the car back to Sedalia to the Parks Cities Service Station.

Mamie Eisenhower Charm Wins Support For the First Lady of the Nation

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON —Whatever rancor lingers among Democrats over Ike's smashing victory, it's softened immeasurably by the knowledge that Mamie is there to share his second term.

Seldom has the wife of a President of the United States won such complete bi-partisan support as Mamie, for her warm-hearted, dignified, gracious performance in the White House the past four years.

However, as Mamie celebrated her 60th birthday on Nov. 14, it is not without some personal sacrifice that she faces another four years committed to the responsibilities of the First Lady of the land.

Glamorous as the job of being mistress of the executive mansion might seem to the average American woman, it entails real work.
And Mamie does it willingly and generously as her contribution to the career of her husband.

Her biggest sacrifice is not having time to visit with her many old and close friends from Ike's military days who live in the Washington area. The thousand and one official teas and luncheons she is forced to attend plus the detailed close supervision she maintains over the housekeeping job at the White House, keep her from her friends.

The way she manages the executive mansion is best revealed by her activities when she returned from one of Ike's campaign trips.
Before she left she had asked one of the servants to replace two burned-out lights in the hall chandelier.
But she noticed that this hadn't been done.

Next morning, first thing, she gently reminded the servant of his neglect. He replaced the old bulbs promptly. At the same time she checked to make sure that one of the automatic washers that needed repair had been fixed. Then she decided that the upholstery on several sofas in their living quarters had to be changed and ordered that done.

"She feels that this sort of supervision is her personal responsibility," a White House spokesman explains.

If Mamie exhibits any weakness in her daily schedule it's a tendency not to be able to say no when invited to some tea or luncheon for the wives of officers. At one of these luncheons recently she heard that the wife of a young officer who was there had cracked up the family car and was despondent over what it would cost to repair and the general bad state of their finances.

After the luncheon Mamie made it her business to find this unfortunate young wife. She told her several stories of the difficult times she and the President had had when he was a junior officer. These words lifted the young lady two feet off the floor and sent her home with a new outlook on life.

Friends are constantly concerned about Mamie's health, which has been known to be delicate. For instance, the full story has never been told about how desperately

58TH BIRTHDAY SMILE was exhibited by the First Lady in 1954 at a party given her by the League of Republican Women.

PREVIEW OF 60TH BIRTHDAY for Mamie took place last March when she got this miniature 59th birthday cake at a party which had been delayed because of Ike's illness.

weak and rundown Mamie was when Ike had his heart attack. Yet she didn't complain and bore up bravely through the ordeal.

The millions of people who saw her while she accompanied the President on his recent campaign tours around the country were impressed by her natural good health and spirits. She missed only the trip to Pittsburgh because of a mild cold, from which she has recovered.

Mamie watches her weight closely, like almost every woman in America. She strives to keep in the neighborhood of 132 pounds.

But the luncheon schedule and a fondness for candy make it difficult. At present she weighs 136 and is fighting valiantly to shed the four extra pounds.

The one sacrifice Mrs. Eisenhower refuses to make to her job is the enjoyment of her son John's family. He is stationed at nearby
Ft. Belvoir and Saturday afternoon at least is her day with daughter-in-law Barbara and the four grandchildren.

sters and always gives Barbara

Driest in 700 Years, Scientists Say—

Ike Will See Farm-Ranch Drouth Scars—
No Previous President Ever Witnessed

DALLAS (AP)—President Eisenhower plans to visit the Southwest in January and he'll see farm-ranch drouth scars no president ever witnessed.

Not in 700 years, say scientists, has it been so dry in some places. He also may, when he stops to talk to farm leaders, find bitterness aimed at the government.

Some farm experts claim federal drouth relief has been too little and too late. And these experts say President Eisenhower is coming too late—he should have come in the summer and spring to see how brown the fields were then when they should have been green.

L. C. Carpenter, Missouri state commissioner of agriculture, is one of the bitter ones. He said the President will not learn much flying over Missouri.

"Of course, he might see a green golf course and be interested in that," said Carpenter.

Carpenter is angry because requests for federal aid for Missouri have not brought the results he thinks are needed.

The Senior Class of the Otterville High School presented a play, "Hessie of the Hills," Nov. 30 at 8 p.m. The play was also presented Monday morning for the school children.

Included in the cast were: Betty Mertgen, Eugene Diefendorf, Opal Frances Carson, Bernadette Eckler, John Broderson, James Sanders, Joan Phillips, Georgie Corson, as Billy Homan and Darlene Lewis as Hessie.

Myna Yeager, Jim Zumsted and Eugene Diefendorf sang two numbers, and Opal Carson and Bernadette Eckler sang one number as special music.

Mrs. A. Mendenhall was play director.

Penny Identifies Twin

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Bette Hedges was stumped when one of her 2-year-old twin sons apparently choked on something. She turned him upside down and the choking stopped but the cause didn't drop out.

Later she forgot which twin was choking so she took both David and Douglas to Good Samaritan Hospital for X-rays—and Douglas was found to be one penny richer than David.

Democrat Class Ads Get Results

The Associated Press today brought other such reports as these:

Colorado: Situation worse in some areas than the famous Dust Bowl days of the 1930s. "The drouth has spread like cancer," a State Agriculture Department official says.

Utah: Worst drouth in 20 years in southern half; some ranges described by State Agriculture Department officials as being "bare as a hardwood floor."

Arizona: University of Arizona scientists, inspecting tree rings, find it one of the worst drouths in 700 years; what grass can be found is bleached white.

Kansas: Many fields too dry to sow to wheat, and in many other fields seed did not sprout.

New Mexico: Only a light sprinkling of snow on the mountains, and reservoirs at all-time low; plains brown and bare.

Oklahoma: High winds sapping surface moisture and land so dry it faces possible wind erosion—dust storms. Many trees dying.

Texas: Cold, dry winds sapping what little moisture fell in early fall; all Texas' 254 counties except five have been designated drouth disaster areas by the federal government.

The cost of the drouth has been staggering. Take these examples:

Ray Freeland, secretary of the Kansas Board of Agriculture, reports this year's corn crop is 33,432,000 bushels, compared with a year average of 61,623,000. The wheat crop is 144,600,000 bushels compared with a 10-year average of 202,369,000. The grain sorghum harvest dropped from a 10-year average of 30,323,000 bushels to 21,968,000.

The Colorado Agriculture Department says the drouth is the principal reason for a decline in the state's farm income from 603 million dollars in 1952 to 375 million this year.

Texas Agriculture Secretary John White estimates a loss to the state's farmers by drouth at 234 billion in the last five years—750 million this year alone.

In most states there are some local areas which have had a fortunate amount of rainfall.

But the experts say it will take lengthy rains possibly for years to restore subsoil moisture to much of the land.

What is the government doing to help?

It has extended credit, established the soil bank, provided income tax relief, subsidized cattle feed purchases and allowed railroads to lower freight rates on feed.

The Export-Import Bank also has sought to help with a five-million-dollar loan to Mexico to purchase distressed cattle in the drouth area, but this program has had no effect yet.

In addition, President Eisenhower signed into law last August a bill which will allow the government to contribute up to 80 percent of the cost for farmers setting up new land practices and crop systems. It was such land practices which whipped the Dust Bowl.

What do farmers want?

In various meetings with Agriculture Department officials they have indicated they want more long-term credit, greater feed and hay subsidies with a simplified system of operations, and a possible subsidy on feed freight costs.

But in Missouri, Carpenter says if federal drouth aid to that state is delayed until January, time of the President's planned visit, it will be too late to help. He said most farmers in southwest Missouri are out of feed now and buying grain. They'll have to buy hay and roughage by Jan. 1.

Claims Back Alimony

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Back alimony and child support payments of $4,050 are demanded from night club comedian Walter O'Keefe by Mrs. Roberta Robinson O'Keefe. She stated in a suit that her husband promised to pay her 40 percent of his gross income for her support and their two children when they signed a settlement in 1950. She said his present income is $500 a week.

Police Hold
Man in Killing
Of Three Boys

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Police said they were holding today a 30-year-old former metal worker and gardener for questioning in the slaying of three Chicago schoolboys Oct. 16, 1955.

The man, identified as Richard Ebert of Aurora, Ill., was arrested on a charge of suspicion of vagrancy. Aurora is 40 miles southwest of Chicago.

Detective M. Z. Brandenberger said that during routine questioning of Ebert he kept repeating: "That time I was in the woods." He was asked what he meant and Brandenberger quoted him: "The three boys in the woods, it was terrible the way they were killed."

Brandenberger said that when he asked Ebert if he killed the boys—Robert Peterson, 14, John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton Schuessler Jr., 11—Ebert said: "I don't know." He told officers he was subjected to black-out spells and had been an inmate in mental institutions at Elgin, Ill., and Camarillo, Calif.

In Chicago, police said they had no information in connection with the questioning of Ebert.

Newspaper files show that Chicago police said the principal clue in the case was the discovery of bits of heat resistant stainless steel in the fingernail scrapings of the Peterson boy. A Chicago police report also said that particles of earth used in making an insecticide and bits of bone meal, a fertilizer, were found in wounds in the Peterson boy's scalp.

Brandenberger said in later questioning of Ebert he said he was working for a metal company in Aurora at the time of the slayings and previously had been a gardener in an Aurora sanitarium.

The three Illinois boys were last seen the night of Oct. 16, 1955, in a bowling alley in the middle of the northwest side of Chicago. Their bodies were found eight miles west of Chicago Oct. 18.

Young Singer Has Double Attraction for Opera Role

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The girl who wears the pants at the Metropolitan Opera is Mildred Miller, a young singer with a double attraction.

She not only is fitted with a fine mezzo-soprano voice. Nature also endowed her with a pair of trim limbs as graceful as those on most Hollywood cheesecake stars.

Because she has "the most beautiful legs at the Met," pretty Miss Miller—who happens to be married to an Air Force major and is the mother of two children—gets most of the young boy roles in opera here.

"I enjoy singing them," she said. "But at least once a year I like to sing a woman's part, and I tell the management, 'Please, let me show my versatility.'"

It is supposed to be a matter of complete indifference to opera fans whether singers move on feet or wheels. They are supposed to be above any lowbrow interest in leg art.

But the truth is that "cheesecake"—the display of a well-turned feminine leg—has had a prominent place in opera for more than two centuries.

There are numerous boy roles in opera—such as Cherubino in "Marriage of Figaro," Octavian in "Der Rosenkavalier," the page in "Salome" and Orlofsky in "Fledermaus."

As the voices of boys usually are changing at the age at which they would play these roles, they are usually sung by young women.

It was a real thrill for gaffers of the 18th and 19th Century to go to the opera and see a girl wearing knee-breeches and long silken hose. Those happened to be good centuries for bosom watchers, but poor ones for leg men. The only way some men all their lives ever could view feminine underpinning was to attend an opera.

That old sense of daring, of course, is long gone, but because of the voice changes girls still often must be boys in opera. "When it comes to trousers, by the end of the season I've had it," said Miss Miller, who is dark-haired and has green eyes. "I throw every pair of slacks, shorts, pedal pushers and lounging pajamas out of my wardrobe."

Miss Miller first met her husband, Maj. Wesley Posvar, while attending a Cleveland high school. He courted her in Europe while he was a Rhodes scholar and she was studying music. They live now in Arlington, Va., with their children, Wesley, 6, and Mariana, 2½.

Eight years after she left high school Miss Miller was singing at the Met. In addition to 15 to 25 opera appearances, she gives 30 to 40 concerts and sings half a dozen or more times a year on radio and TV programs.

That schedule makes it unnecessary for her to exercise or diet to keep shapely.

"As a matter of fact, good living and good food make for better singing," she said. "And I have to leap around the stage so much—boys are so bouncy—I lose a couple of pounds at every performance."

Miss Miller has got her later life all figured out.

"After my children are grown and I retire," she said, "I am going to become a Washington lobbyist—and try to get Congress to subsidize opera."

"This country today is just oozing with operatic talent. I know a lot of fine young singers who won't make the grade simply because of one thing—there aren't enough openings."

"The number of singers who can live on their opera earnings alone is very very small."

"The opera still has to beg for a living in this country. It shouldn't have to."

Singer, Wife Win Custody of Her Sons

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Merle Travis, singer of western songs, and his wife Bettie, have won their court suit for custody of her two sons by a former marriage.

Ward W. Robinson, wedding company owner, had asked custody of the children on the ground that they were in an unat home, charging that Travis became intoxicated last January and created a disturbance that gained notoriety.

Travis admitted he was drunk but said he fired his target pistol into the base of a living room clock only to show his wife he wasn't as intoxicated as she thought.

Several witnesses testified he is a model husband, stepfather, neighbor and friend.

Smith-Cotton Ousts Fulton in Tourney

Tigers Advance to Semi-finals With 63-53 Win Wednesday Nite

Sedalia's Smith-Cotton christened its new basketball season and at the same time sounded the opening gong in the Jefferson City Invitational cage tourney Wednesday evening when the Tigers humbled Fulton with a 63-53 trouncing. Smith-Cotton thus advanced to the semifinals against the winner of a Moberly-Jefferson City tilt.

The Sedalians sped to a 17-13 opening quarter lead and continued their drive in the second period with a 15-12 performance and a halftime command of 32-25. They pulled further away from the Fultonites in the last half with quarters of 16-15 and 15-13 to capture their season opener.

Charles Newman and Bob Spraggins shared the spotlight in the scoring department for the Tigers with Newman marking up 18 points followed by Spraggins who netted 17. Larry Shephard dunked 12 for the locals.

Ferguson led the losers with 16 while teammate Hebert counted ten points.

Sedalia plays again this evening at 9 o'clock for a finals berth.

Russia Moves Ahead Of US in Unofficial Olympic Games Rating

MELBOURNE, (P)—Russia just missed a clean sweep of individual and team gold medals in the men's gymnastics events tonight and moved ahead of the United States in the unofficial Olympic point tabulations.

The Soviet, which also swept the first four gold medals to be determined in Greco-Roman wrestling, jumped some 100 points in front of the Yanks, who have been at a virtual standstill since the completion of the men's track and field competition last Saturday.

America failed to pick up a single gold medal in today's competition, settling for a second in the women's 400-meter relay swims and a 2-3 finish in the men's high diving event. The United States lodged a protest, however, against Mexico's Joaquin Capilla, who was awarded the diving gold medal.

Mississippi, Indiana Small Colleges Best In Offense, Defense

KANSAS CITY, (P)—Mississippi Vocational and St. Joseph's College of Indiana completed the 1956 football season as the top offensive and defensive teams, respectively, among small colleges of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Figures released today by the NAIA showed Mississippi Vocational averaged an amazing 486.7 yards in 10 games to edge Florida A&M for the total offense title. Florida averaged 475 yards in eight games.

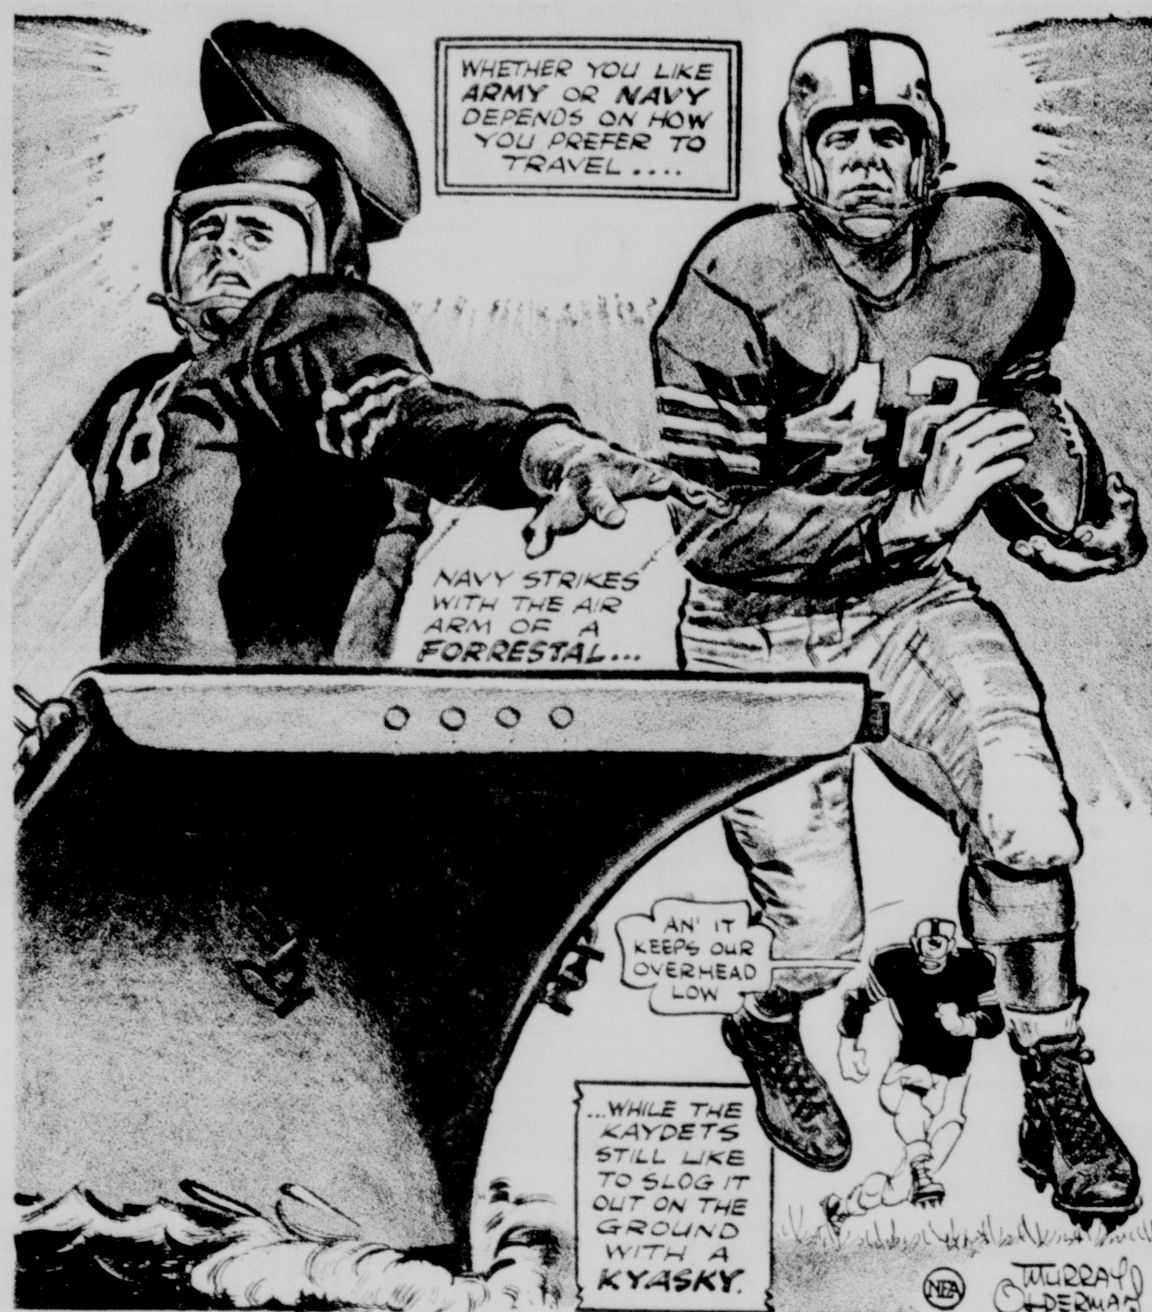

St. Joseph's, which will meet undefeated Montana State of Bozeman in the NAIA's first All-American Bowl at Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 22, posted a defensive record as remarkable.

Olympic Athlete Says He May Beat Own Record in Finals

MELBOURNE, (P)—Powerful George Breen of Buffalo, N. Y., who set a world record last night in preliminaries of the 1500-meter swimming race, believes he may be able to beat his time of 17 minutes 52.9 seconds in Friday's finals.

"I didn't go all out in the trials," he said. "I believe I had something left."

Football Star Honored By Home Town

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., (P)—Tommy McDonald, who went from a small New Mexico plains community to gain national football fame, was honored by his home town yesterday.

It was "Tommy McDonald Day" in Albuquerque, by formal proclamation of the mayor. The 1955 All-America halfback at Oklahoma was given a golden key to the city and feted by civic clubs and his high school.

Tommy was born in Roy, a town of about 1,100 in Northeastern New Mexico. He moved to Albuquerque with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McDonald, in 1951.

Speakers at yesterday's ceremonies called Tommy an all-American boy—the ideal of American youth. They recalled his early football days. One said:

"I don't think Hugh Hackett had any idea he had a future all-American when a spindly-legged, 130-pound kid came out on the practice field then."

Hackett was Tommy's coach at Highland High School in Albuquerque.

McDonald's mother recalled he started playing football when he was in the eighth grade in Roy.

At the high school ceremonies, Tommy's football and basketball uniform numbers were retired permanently. In his senior year at Highland he set two state scoring records which still stand—151 points in football, 506 points in basketball. He also still holds the New Mexico record for the 180-yard low hurdles at 19.6.

"I'd like to play pro football for two or three years," Tommy said. He indicated he might try to get a coaching job then, or join his father in the electrical contracting business.

He insisted the honors belong to someone else, citing particularly Billy Prier, Oklahoma's great blocking back.

Actress Keeps Faith to Gain Film Contract

HOLLYWOOD — The latest Hollywood success story concerns a beautiful blonde from Eagle Rock, Calif., who was told three years ago she would never walk again.

Shapely, healthy-looking Barbara Lang has walked right into an MGM contract. Today she's preparing to play the sole female role as Jack Palance's wife and sister-in-law (he plays dual roles) in "The House of Numbers."

Barbara's is a story of faith and determination. "I always knew I was going to be an actress," she recalled. "Even when I was a girl in Eagle Rock (a suburb of Los Angeles). I used to organize plays in which I would star and direct. Then I'd go around the neighborhood collecting 2 cents from the grownups to see the show."

After high school, she tried her luck as an actress. She acted in little theaters and did some night club singing. Then polio struck. "One morning I woke up feeling tired," she said. "I couldn't understand it, because I was always full of pep. But I had pains in my back and neck and I couldn't remember having done anything to strain them."

She was taken to General Hospital. Soon her body was rigid except for her toes. She was even unable to close her eyes.

She said that doctors despaired of her ever using her legs again. But she didn't. She prayed often and read the bible.

"I never doubted that everything would be all right," she remarked. "Even my mother was ready to give me up when she saw me. But I had faith that God would help me."

Anxious to get back to her career, Barbara took long walks and studied breath control to get back her wind. She did night club singing to earn some money for an assault on the studios. Returning, she found work in TV films like "Death Valley Days," "My Little Margie" and the Bob Cummings show.

Paramount saw her on TV and gave her a test. The powers wanted to sign her but the studio boss was out of town. Meanwhile, MGM saw the test and signed Barbara while Paramount fiddled. Happy with her career and recently wed to actor Alan Wells, she's convinced of the benefits that faith can bring.

A CENTRAL POWER STATION

PIONEER!

In 1908, many communities owned small, sometimes inadequate electric power stations. Mr. L. K. Green, founder of what is now the Missouri Public Service Company system, had at that time a new and different idea, an idea that had people talking.

"Imagine building transmission lines from one generating station to deliver electricity to surrounding towns! Can Mr. Green be serious?"

Mr. Green replied by increasing his Concordia, Kansas, central power station output from the original 100 kilowatts to 1,250 kilowatts, and in 1908, that was a lot of electricity. During the following nine years, 26 central Kansas communities were linked with the Concordia plant.

Mr. Green was serious. He had pioneered, in this part of the country, the central power station system of generating electricity which is so common today. His electricity in many cases became less expensive than the various cities could produce themselves with their own plants.

The road over the years sometimes had offered tough travel. But like the missionaries of old, Mr. Green won converts to his message of electric power and saw his vision take hold and grow in public favor.

10 Business Stories Were 1956 Big News

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Business this year has managed to grab a sizeable share of front-page space.

While the dying year could still spawn the top story in some one of the world's trouble spots, here—just one man's opinion—are the candidates for the 10 best business stories of 1956:

1. Inflation and tight money—two sides of the same problem. The rise in the cost of living after a few years of stability jolted many consumers. The rise in the cost of doing business hit manufacturers and merchants even harder.

2. The Eisenhower story. His decision to run, early in the spring, and his illness early in the summer were reflected quickly in the stock market and his re-election in November along with about the same Congress bolstered the confidence of many businessmen in continuing good times.

3. The Suez Canal. At first the shock of coming so close to the brink of war rocked the stock and commodity markets. Later the launching of a plan for the United States to make up much of Europe's lost oil supplies boomed a number of industries, notably petroleum, steel and shipping.

4. The stock market. Its backing and filling over the year puzzled traders and public and made some wary of the future.

5. The steel strike. Its effect on all but closely allied industries was largely in its backlash—a wage and price increase that whipped up inflationary trends and set an example for other management and labor groups.

6. The Detroit story. Layoffs in the spring and summer and revival of auto production and sales in the fall affected the general economy and were credited with shaping public as well as business psychology.

7. Business spending on capital goods. Record outlays—and, even more, record plans for building additional plants and buying equipment—bolstered good times.

8. The change in consumer spending habits. Fewer cars, tractors, appliances; more apparel, food, medical care, entertainment and recreation.

9. Leveling off of profits. The big increase month after month in business profits ground to a halt under rising wage and material costs for many companies. But the total of dividend payments held well above last year to set a record.

10. Farm income. The mild bounce back from the post-Korean lows was due partly to government spending on support schemes but also to better prices on many farm products. The farmer's take is still well below the Korean high point.

Cardinal Mindszenty Says He Was Abused For 29 Days, Nights

NEW YORK (AP)—Hungary's Cardinal Mindszenty says he was abused for 29 days and nights by Red secret police prior to his trial on treason charges in 1949.

The cardinal told his story in an interview published in the current Look magazine.

The prelate said he was stripped, beaten for days with a rubber hose, kept in a cold damp cell to irritate his weak lung, forced to watch obscene orgies, and questioned without sleep throughout the entire period.

When he collapsed, the prelate was quoted as saying, he was revived immediately to deprive him of rest.

His interviewer, Leslie Balogh Bain, said, however, that the cardinal told him no drugs were used to make him confess to trumped-up treason charges.

Cardinal Mindszenty, freed during the Hungarian uprising, said he would fight on against the Communist regime. He also said his memoirs will aid in raising funds for the destitute Roman Catholic Church in Hungary.

Car in Lake Found To Be Tires in Mud

BRADLEY BEACH, N.J. (AP)—Someone reported an overturned car stuck in Sylvan Lake in this seashore town.

The first aid squad and hook and ladder truck rushed to the scene to find four tires stuck in the mud, properly spaced to look like an overturned car.

The practical joke was staged in front of the home of Commissioner Albert Kirms, who directs the town's police and firemen.

Thief Sends Gifts

BALTIMORE (AP)—Elisha Sampson told police he was receiving numerous Christmas gifts which he hadn't ordered and didn't want. A local store revealed that a man purchased the gifts after cashing a commercial money order, identified himself as Elisha Sampson, and pocketed the change. The money order forms had been stolen. So had Sampson's wallet and identification papers.

Russians Become Australian Citizens

SIDNEY, Australia, (AP)—Vladimir Petrov, former third secretary at the Russian Embassy who exposed a widespread Soviet spy ring, and his wife are now naturalized Australian citizens.

The official Commonwealth Gazette listed their names today among those granted naturalization certificates.

Petrov fled from his post in the embassy at Canberra in April 1954 and exposed the spy network. When Russian officials tried to take his wife Evdokia back to Russia under armed guard, Australian authorities disarmed the guards. Mrs. Petrov decided to join her husband in political asylum.

Children Find St. Nicholas Follows to US

CAMP KILMER, N.J. (AP)—Dozens of Hungarian children, uprooted in bewilderment from their homes only a few days ago, awoke today to find that the spirit of St. Nicholas lives around the world.

When they looked at their shoes polished so brightly in hope, they found a wonder of wonders—St. Nicholas had paid them a visit.

Even though they were thousands of miles from their homeland and living in an Army barracks, the old gent had found them.

He left them the traditional gifts: dolls, games, candy—and switches.

They were small gifts, in their tradition that says the big gifts come on Christmas Day, the small ones on Dec. 6 from St. Nicholas, whom Hungarian youngsters consider their special protector.

While the children were nestled all snug in their beds, volunteer workers from the Red Cross quietly delivered the packages last night to Hungarian refugee parents billeted here.

The gifts, all new, were donated by various organizations through the Red Cross.

The symbolic switches—another part of the tradition that calls for the youngsters to shine their shoes and set them out for gifts—were "pulled off some trees around here," a Red Cross spokesman said.

US Abandons High Council NATO Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomats disclosed today a U.S. plan to strengthen Atlantic Alliance unity by creating an NATO supercouncil has been brushed aside by America's European allies.

As a consequence, they said, the idea—first proposed by Secretary of State Dulles at Paris last May—is being abandoned by the United States, at least for the time being.

Dulles' suggestion was ignored by a three-member committee which has just completed a report recommending changes in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Its report, which is under study to contain no recommendations for radical departures from the present NATO setup, will be studied at the NATO foreign ministers' session in Paris early next week.

That meeting, for which Dulles leaves Saturday, also has two other major points on its agenda.

The first is a general discussion of military plans for the next 12 months. In keeping with the atomic age trend of placing more reliance on modern weapons than on manpower, some troop trimming might be recommended.

The other point will be a round-robin discussion of world events, including the British-French-Israeli action in Egypt, Russia's use of force in Hungary, and the ever-present issue of German reunification.

Possible reorganization of NATO into something more than a military alliance has been under study since last May by the committee. Its three members, dubbed the "Three Wise Men," are Foreign Ministers Lester B. (Mike) Pearson of Canada, Gaetano Martino of Italy and Halvard Lange of Norway.

As part of their study, they sent a questionnaire to each of the 15 member nations.

One U. S. suggestion, informants said, was Dulles' proposal that a supercouncil, composed of top-level diplomats from each of the NATO countries, get together frequently.

These officials would seek to achieve greater solidarity in the economic, social and cultural field. They would be able to deal promptly with tough political problems like the Middle East, North African and Cyprus disputes.

None of the other member governments endorsed the idea.

SANTA FE, N. M. South Africa Investigates 140 for Treason

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The government today held 140 men and women at a prison for here for a treason inquiry pointed at foes of South Africa's racial segregation policies.

Those arrested in a countrywide sweep include whites, Africans, Indians and persons of mixed blood. They face court hearings in the country's first peacetime treason prosecution.

They were swept up in raids at various points on bodies opposing racial segregation (apartheid) and on leftist groups. Most of them were flown to Johannesburg by military airlift.

A preliminary hearing for some of those arrested was recessed until Dec. 19. The prisoners were held without bail.

Details of the treason charges were not disclosed. But Foreign Minister Eric H. Louw told reporters at U.N. headquarters in New York that "persons who are

Civil Air Patrol Members Are Volunteers

Scenes of Civil Air Patrol Activities Give a Brief Glimpse of the Organization in Action

Civil Air Patrol Celebrates 15 Years Of Public Service in War and Peace

By Capt. Ruth Costello, CAP

"December 1, 1956, marks fifteen years of outstanding public service to the nation on the part of Civil Air Patrol," it has been announced by Major General Walter R. Agee, national commander of Civil Air Patrol.

For 15 years Civil Air Patrol has been a major contributing factor to the advancement of American airpower through its aviation program for youth and its operational search and rescue work.

Founded just six days before the attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941, Civil Air Patrol now boasts more than 90,000 civilian volunteers, 51,000 of them teen-age cadets learning about aviation. It operates some 5,300 light planes and 11,000 radio stations organized into a nationwide network.

Its members, who make up Civil Air Patrol units in some 2,500 communities across the nation, receive no pay, per diem or allowances for their work. They are, however, reimbursed for fuel and oil consumed on Air Force-directed missions. They give of their time and often risk their lives without thought of personal gain.

By Act of Congress the Civil Air Patrol is the official "civilian auxiliary of the United States Air Force" and its members wear the Air Force uniform with distinctive CAP insignia.

During World War II the newly formed Civil Air Patrol was assigned the job of anti-submarine patrol. Flying out of 21 makeshift flying fields along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, Civil Air Patrol flight crews bombed 82 submarines and called in the Army or Navy to attack another 173 U-boats. In all they flew more than 24,000,000 miles on anti-submarine patrol and thousands of miles on other important missions. They lost 32 of their number.

Today's Civil Air Patrol carries on the work begun by these pioneers. Its volunteer civilian air crews continue to fly more than half of the hours logged by all participating agencies on the Air Force-directed search and rescue missions in the continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

In 1956 the CAP's volunteer airmen flew more than 14,000 hours on actual search and rescue missions directed by the Air Rescue Service. Even in the little single engine planes of the CAP that figure represents a distance of 39 times around the world. These planes are owned mostly by the individual members themselves.

CAP National Headquarters in Washington estimates that it would cost the federal government some $47,000,000 per year to maintain a standby force of second lieutenant pilots to equal the 12,000 rated pilots of Civil Air Patrol who are on alert for the USAF 24 hours a day all year around.

General Agee announced at a meeting of the National Aviation Trades Association in St. Louis last month (November) that a flight training program probably would be available to Civil Air Patrol cadets beginning in 1957. This program if passed by Congress, would provide 10,000 flight training scholarships to some deserving Civil Air Patrol cadets at an approximate cost of $500 per scholarship. Such a flight training program would be arranged through base operators on a contract basis and would be initiated in the southwestern region, Oklahoma and Texas. If successful, the program will be expanded the following year to include all 52 wings of CAP.

CAP cadet training, available to young men and women between 14 and 18 years of age, provides the individual with a thorough foundation in the fundamentals of aviation, leadership and military drill. What Civil Air Patrol cadets learn at squadron level during the year is put into practice at 10-day summer encampments at Air Force bases throughout the country. During these encampments the United States Air Force lends its personnel and equipment to help train Civil Air Patrol cadets in most phases of military life and aviation education.

The value of Civil Air Patrol training is evident in the number of former CAP members who elect to join the Air Force. More than 30,000 former members of CAP are now serving in the U. S. Air Force. A Civil Air Patrol cadet who has successfully passed all phases of his training is eligible to enter the U. S. Air Force as an Airman third class.

Even more significant is the record of the former CAP cadets who now are enrolled as cadets in the new U. S. Air Force Academy near Denver, Colo. Sixty-seven former CAP cadets — more than 12 per cent of the entire enrollment at the Air Force Academy — are now Air Force cadets. Not one of the 36 cadets who entered last year with Civil Air Patrol records has been lost by discharge or resignation.

Here in Missouri the Civil Air Patrol boasts the largest and most active wing in the north central region, which includes 7 states. More than 1,200 members, 500 of these being cadets, make up the 27 squadrons of the Missouri Wing. The CAP communications system of the Missouri Wing includes 109 licensed mobile units, 19 licensed

Mrs. Mollie Potter Observes 101st Birthday Anniversary

Mrs. Mollie Potter was 101 years old on Nov. 23 and in her honor her daughter, Mrs. Daisy Higdon, held open house at her home near Clifton City Sunday afternoon, during which time 85 neighbors and friends called.

Punch, cake, cookies and mints were served throughout the afternoon by two great-granddaughters, Nancy Fricke and Beverly Higdon.

Mrs. Potter received many nice gifts and cards. Attending from a distance were Mrs. Ruth Swing from the state of California, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller, Mrs. Walter Oak of Boonville, Mrs. Potter's niece, Mrs. Clint Lord and her nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Kelley Sheffer, all of Harrisonville.

Mrs. Potter was Mollie Catherine Sheffer and was born on a farm west of Clifton City on Nov. 23, 1855, the daughter of the late John D. and Nancy K. Sheffer. During the Civil War her father, who was from Kentucky, served under Gen. Grant, and her mother was left alone with her three small children.

Mrs. Potter doesn't remember too much about the war, but she remembers when the slaves were made free because her grandparents owned a number of slaves and some of these did not want to leave. They remained in their cabin homes for several years and the Negro mammy, the main cook, stayed on until she died.

Soon after the war Mrs. Potter's father died, and the family went to make its home with her grandparents, the late Henry and Sallie Thomas, pioneer residents who came here from Virginia and settled on a farm two miles west of Clifton City. She said her grandfather told of when he first came to Pettis County and said that where Sedalia is today was an open prairie and covered with prairie grass. All the land could be made her happy.

Mrs. Mary Jens Retires—

Works at Penney's 36 Years,
Recalls Varied Experiences

Saturday, Dec. 1, was the last day of Mrs. Mary Jens' career as a saleswoman in Sedalia completing her 36 years with the J. C. Penney Co., and customers, who always turned out to be friends of Mary's after they had started as customers, if they were not friends before, are going to miss her.

Always in a good humor, always laughing and talking, always glad to serve customers whether they bought a large amount from her or nothing at all—that has been Mary's secret of success, the reason customers looked her up to wait on them.

Mary came to Sedalia when she was six months old from Milwaukee, Wis., where she was born, and has lived here ever since. She attended Sacred Heart School and was graduated from Sedalia High School in 1911. She was Mary Cervy then and went to work at her first job in Woolworth's when she was out of school. Then she went to Flower's, then one year as a bookkeeper at Archias and back to Flower's.

It was in May, 1920, that she went to work at the Penney's store and has worked continuously there except for a brief period in 1939. She was married at that time to Arthur Jens and quit her role as saleswoman to take on the duties of a housewife. But Mary's happiness as a wife was short. Mr. Jens lived only nine months and Mary went back to Penney's.

Paul Hedderich, store manager, announced that Mary's retirement under the company's thrift and profit-sharing retirement fund plan started Dec. 1. "We are particularly happy that the Penney Co. is able, under its retirement plan, to recognize Mrs. Jens' many years of faithful service," Hedderich said. "She has a large following of friends and customers whom she has served for many years," he continued. "We all will miss her and wish her many more years of health and happiness."

The Penney Company's thrift and profit-sharing retirement fund plan was set up in 1939.

During the 36 years she has been employed at the Penney Company, she has worked under seven managers.

Her first customer in the Penney's Store was Mrs. Ray Matthews, 1108 South Moniteau, who brought in her picture taken in the coat she bought from Mary that first day.

Mary has spent much of her time in the piece goods department and she has accumulated many funny stories that happened to her. One day a woman came in and bought three yards of organdy. There was a damaged place in the organdy, so Mary put in an extra half yard to take care of the damaged part. A few days later the woman returned the organdy, three yards of it which included the damaged part. The other half yard she kept, because, she told Mary, she gave her that.

Another day a woman admired a dress Mary was wearing and wanted a pattern like it. When

Muscular Pains Keep
Sinatra Off Shows

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Frank Sinatra's press agent says the singer is resting at home with muscular pains in the neck and back that kept him from appearing on two television programs.

One was Jackie Gleason's TV tribute Saturday night to Sinatra's onetime boss, bandleader Tommy Dorsey, who died last Monday.

The other was Ed Sullivan's show last night on which Sinatra was to have accepted a movie magazine's award as an entertainer.

Singer Doris Day, similarly honored among women performers, accepted Sinatra's award as well as her own.

NEW YORK (AP)—A two-forked drive on tight money — one on part of its cause, the other on part of its effects — is under way today.

One governmental agency aids the move to get people to save more money so it can be lent to those who need to spend.

At almost the same time another governmental agency is making it easier for one set of borrowers, home builders, to find money in a competitive market.

The first could increase the supply of credit, at least for one set of lenders, the commercial banks; the second doesn't.

On the other side of the financial street a group of economists forecasts credit will get still tighter before it gets easier. And consumers themselves, while pushing their installment debt total to a new high, have cut the total amount they owe on their cars.

The net result may be mostly a shifting in the various factors in the tight money situation without any great change in the overall picture. The nation probably will have to get used to living with tight money for some time to come.

The Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. will permit some 13,000 insured commercial banks with about 50 billion dollars in time and savings deposits to raise the interest they pay to savers from the present 2 1/2 per cent limit to 3 per cent, if they wish.

Commercial bankers here welcome this chance to lure savers who have been looking to other places to put their money where the returns are more liberal.

But the commercial banks will watch to see if their new competitive position will need the mutual savings banks to seek higher rates than the 3 per cent most of them now pay.

To help people find money to borrow, the Federal Housing Administration this week is raising the limit on interest on FHA guaranteed mortgages to 5 per cent. It says this will help home builders to find money. But this may make it still harder to find money for a Veterans Administration guaranteed loan, which is fixed by law at 4 1/2 per cent.

It may be well into next year before there's any real easing of the money situation, 16 economists at a National Industrial Conference Board forum agree.

Before that, possibly early in 1957, even tighter conditions will be found, the group believes.

Mr. and Mrs. Homan Cox and children, Lee's Summit, were recent weekend visitors of Mrs. O. A. Cox, 1003 East Fifth.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jolly and two daughters, Sharon and Vicki, have returned to their home in Waco, Texas, after spending the past week with relatives in Sedalia. Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Jolly, 1015 South Harrison, and Mrs. Jolly is the daughter of Mrs. Mae Moser, 410 1/2 West Fourth. Mr. Jolly is employed in the office of the Katy Railroad depot in Waco.

Want to send some of your friends a small gift from your kitchen this Christmas? Then we suggest a jar of pickled and spiced fruits — cherries, figs or mixed fruits. All are easy to prepare and interesting to serve with holiday birds.

Because these fruits need to be refrigerated, we suggest that they be given to neighbors or friends and relatives who are nearby. Deck the jars of fruits out in Christmas trimmings, if you like. Though they look so pretty and colorful "as is" in their glass containers, they need only a minimum of wrapping.

PICKLED SPICED CHERRIES
Ingredients: 1 jar (1 pound and

1 ounce) sweet cherries, ¼ cup white vinegar, ¼ cup cherry syrup, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 4 whole cloves, ½ teaspoon pickling spices.

Method: Remove lid from jar; save lid. Drain cherries; save syrup. Mix vinegar, ¼ cup cherry syrup, salt and sugar together in a saucepan. Place cloves and pickling spices in a small bag and add to other ingredients. Bring mixture to a full boil. Reduce heat and cook gently for 5 minutes. Remove spice bag. Cool slightly and pour spiced liquid over the cherries in jar. Recap jar tightly. Cool. Store in refrigerator until ready to use.

PICKLED SPICED FIGS
Ingredients: 1 jar (1 pound and 13 ounces) whole figs, ¼ cup cider vinegar, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon powdered cloves, ¼ teaspoon powdered allspice, 3 thin orange slices.

Method: Remove lid from jar; save lid. Drain syrup from figs into a saucepan. Bring syrup to boil and continue to boil gently for 5 minutes. Add vinegar, sugar, cloves and allspice to syrup, stirring constantly until sugar is dissolved. Cook 5 minutes more. Remove from heat. Cool slightly and pour spiced syrup over figs and orange slices in jar. Recap jar tightly. Cool. Store in refrigerator until ready to use.

PICKLED SPICED MIXED FRUITS
Ingredients: 1 jar (1 pound and 13 ounces) fruits for salad, ¼ cup honey, ¼ cup cider vinegar, ¼ cup fruit syrup, 5 whole cloves, 1 stick (2 inches) cinnamon.

Method: Remove lid from jar; save lid. Drain fruits; save syrup. Mix honey, vinegar, ¼ cup fruit syrup, cloves and cinnamon together in a saucepan. Bring mixture to a boil. Reduce heat and cook gently for 5 minutes. Remove from heat; cool slightly. Pour spiced syrup over fruits in jar. Recap jar tightly. Cool. Store in refrigerator until ready to use.

FRUIT TIPS
When you give these pickled spiced fruits as gifts, be sure to add a card saying "Store in refrigerator until ready to use."

The spiced syrup from the fruits may be used for basting a ham. The fruits themselves are delightful to serve with baked ham or a ham loaf.

JARS OF FRUIT take on an interesting flavor with vinegar and spice. Use for gift purposes.

Mrs. Earl Hinken closed the meeting with prayer.

Refreshments were served.

The Martha Circle held its meeting at the home of the circle leader, Mrs. Floyd Eby. The meeting was opened with a poem by James J. Metcalfe, read by Mrs. Eby.

Mrs. Eby was also in charge of the lesson, "Meeting the Questions That Come," which was in the form of a discussion. Mrs. Eby closed the meeting by reading a prayer.

Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Mrs. Harold L. Baslee and her daughter, were guests.

Mrs. H. H. Ream was hostess to the Ruth Circle at her home. The circle leader, Mrs. Glen Morrow, presided at the meeting, which was opened with a short devotional period by Mrs. Harold Hinton who read an article closing with prayer.

There was a discussion about remembering the shut-ins at Christmas. Mrs. Morrow was in charge of the lesson, "Meeting the Questions That Come." All present took part in the discussion that followed.

Refreshments were served after the meeting. Mrs. Mae Iman was a guest.

AF Starts Arms System For A-Bomber

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Reporter

WASHINGTON — The Air Force, apparently confident of success in building an atom-powered bomber, has started organizing a complete weapons system for the operation of such aircraft.

It's still cloaked in secrecy, but available information indicates that the Air Force already has let contracts for development of some of the equipment.

In charge of this phase of the atomic aircraft program is a "director of nuclear systems," an office of the Air Research and Development Command. The identity of the system is concealed behind a code designation of three numerals and a letter combination.

The aircraft nuclear engine program itself includes two separate reactor development projects, one under contract by the General Electric Co. at an Ohio plant and the other by Pratt and Whitney at Hartford, Conn.

The Atomic Energy Commission recently, including a runway as well as static test equipment, at its national reactor test station in Idaho.

There are a number of other little-known projects related to the atomic aircraft engine project, including several referred to only under such code names as "Pul-to" and "Pied Piper" programs under direction of the AEC's San Francisco office and another identified only as "Project Rover."

In an obvious reference to atom-powered aircraft, Secretary of the Air Force Quarles said during an ABC-TV interview yesterday that "we have the develop-

Woman Wasn't Ready To Drive New Car

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — A Los Angeles woman has been doing so well with her driving lessons that recently she and her husband bought a new car.

Yesterday, Nico Udung took his wife Nina out for another lesson. The car hit a dip in the road, climbed the hood of a parked auto and bounced onto the rear deck of another parked car.

No one was hurt. The Udungs' shiny 1957 sedan, with only 1,012 miles on the speedometer, was wrecked.

Mrs. Udung, weeping, said she'd got her foot on the accelerator instead of the brake pedal.

ment of such a plane in the research and development" stage, but that it is several years away from realization.

This reply was to a question whether the Air Force is working on a plane which could make a flight to Russia and return without aerial refueling.

Quarles said the U. S. Air Force has "substantially greater striking power" than that of Russia, development of guided missiles "the manned aircraft will still be our mainstay."

Quarles said also that the Air Force goal of 137 wings by next June 30 "will undoubtedly be modified" somewhat but its strength will not be cut. He said the force now has 131 combat wings.

Neal F. Evert Among Marines in Exercise

Pic. Neal F. Evert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Evert, recently participated in amphibious ship-to-shore maneuvers with the 9th Marine Regiment of the 3rd Marine Division on the tiny volcanic island of Iwo Jima.

Highlight of the maneuver came when part of the landing forces, using small landing craft, hit the beach while other Leathernecks hopped over the simulated beach defenses in helicopters to an inland site.

The maneuver was part of a continuous testing program of the Marine Corps' original vertical envelopment theory which provides a landing force with a powerful one-two punch for securing a beachhead.

Cleaning Up Freight Cars...

It could be that new generations in the years of their youth were not impressed by paternal warnings to "clean up that mess, or you'll get a spanking!"

When adults change residences they leave behind a lot of litter for succeeding occupants to clean up; there's a dinner or meeting in a church or lodge and the committee thinks nothing of leaving everything in a state of disarrangement for someone else to clean up.

So it is only natural one hears today that cleaning a freight car after it is unloaded seems to be no one's responsibility—except the railroad's.

The nation's railroads spend $110 million a year just to do that—clean their freight cars. About half the expense is a necessary part of the operation in preparing cars to make them suitable for various types of commodities. But the other half is caused by cars left in dirty condition by the receivers of freight.

If you don't believe it, take a squint into some of those empties on Sedalia's sidings after they've been unloaded. Not all, of course, but enough to add to that $55 million dollar of expense cleaning them again.

To combat this problem, a clean car program was started several years ago. The heart of the program lies in car checks followed by re-checks and with personal contact by railroad representatives to explain the purpose of the campaign to receivers. These activities have stirred up interest and cooperation by the Air Force, Navy and large commercial shippers.

As a result the proportion of unclean cars to total cars released has been dropping substantially, and improvement continues. Shippers have learned that it is a real advantage to them to clean their cars properly—in some cases, strange as it seems, railroads have taken back cars loaded with debris, and found under it valuable shipment that the receivers had just overlooked.

Work of this kind obviously enough is not just a railroad affair. All the cost of operating this or any other service must ultimately be borne by the people who use it, and their customers. Just about everyone gets an indirect benefit from the clean car program.

So here's one clean-up program which, like so many others, has the potential of success if it's started in the family circle, trying it out on Pop and the kids:

"Brother, clean up that mess, or else!"

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Fiscal Policies Worry Ike Advisers

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It isn't featured in the headlines, but Eisenhower advisers are just as much worried over domestic fiscal policy as they are about international war jitters.

U. S. government bonds have now dropped to the lowest point since the collapse of World War I Liberty Bonds in the Harding Administration. Simultaneously, the government is now paying the highest interest rate since the bank holiday at the end of the Hoover administration in 1933 — 3.174 per cent.

This has had several serious economic effects.

1. A mistrust of government credit which could become dangerous.

2. Curtailment of credit to small business.

The Eisenhower administration has been receiving such a deluge of complaints that the office of small business of the Commerce Department, after three years of hand-sitting, is finally going out to big cities to hold regional meetings.

3. The big banks are making more money than ever, thanks to high interest rates. On the last issue of government paper at 3.174 per cent, the banks were able to borrow at the Federal Reserve for 3 per cent, then turn around and use this money to buy government paper for a profit of one-sixth of 1 per cent.

4. The little investor who bought government bonds in good faith is now stuck.

Inflation Hits Little Fellow

Here's what has happened to the small investor. He bought Series E bonds after listening to the treasury's appeal of patriotism, and he must keep them "locked in" for 10 years in order to get the 3 per cent interest rate. They are not negotiable. Also, they are taxable.

Meanwhile the market has dropped on some bonds and he is left holding the bag. Municipal bonds which are tax exempt are generally higher. They pay interest rates of as high as 4½ per cent. At the same time, prices of food, clothing, almost everything else has gone up, while the value of some government bonds has gone down.

So the patriotic citizen who answered his country's call to help finance the war and defense spending is now twice hit: (1) By inflation, (2) By the tight money policy which has raised interest rates to about 50 per cent more than he gets from his E bonds.

The drop in some government bond values to $89, the lowest since the Harding administration, results, of course, from the sale of new government bonds at a higher interest rate. Some advisers blame this on the high discount rate of the Federal Reserve Board which they point out is independent of the Treasury.

However, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, though at first skeptical of the high discount rate, has now endorsed it as a necessary brake on inflation.

On the other hand, Dr. Arthur Burns, Eisenhower's chief economic adviser, resigned because of his opposition to the continued high discount rate. The depressed stock market, the slowing rate of plant expansion, plus lessened auto production were economic straws in the wind which worried him.

Note—Congressman Wright Patman of Texas, most faithful friend of small business, plans a full-scale probe of government fiscal policy when Congress gets back to Washington.

One Pipe Line Operates

There is just one pipeline still carrying oil from the Arab countries to the Mediterranean. The others, originally laid to circumvent tanker transportation through the Suez Canal, have been chopped off by the Arab countries through which they flow.

The one pipeline still flowing is that owned by the Arabian-American Oil Company from Saudi Arabia to Sidon on the eastern Mediterranean. It carries 320,000 barrels a day and is running to capacity.

Inside reason why it is operating when all other lines have been cut is a pledge given by Aramco that not a drop of this oil shall reach the British and French.

The Saudi Arabia government threatened to blow up the pipeline, dynamite oil facilities, and destroy oil wells in Saudi Arabia if any of this oil got to the French and British. So Aramco agreed.

Aramco is owned 30 per cent by Standard of New Jersey, 30 per cent by Standard of California, 30 per cent by the Texas Company, and 10 per cent by Socony Oil.

The interesting thing is that two American ambassadors to England and France have been intimately connected with these same big oil companies which are now boycotting the countries to which the diplomats are accredited.

Winthrop Aldrich, ambassador to London, is the brother-in-law of the Rockefeller family, which controls Standard of N.J. and Standard of California. Douglas Dillon, ambassador to France, was part of the Dillon Reed investment firm which helped put the Arabian-American oil combine together.

Cardinal Mindszenty

Amid the flaring headlines on war in the Middle East and revolt in satellite Europe, the release of the famed Josef Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary is rewarding news.

The world will never forget the bald cruelty of his trial and imprisonment at the hands of Hungarian Reds on trumped-up charges of treason and — of all things — black market operations.

Since February, 1949, the aging Catholic Primate of Hungary has languished in a Communist jail, one of the truly tragic victims of Stalin's tyranny.

He was crushed then because a Communist dictatorship can brook no opposition. As head of the church in Catholic Hungary, the Cardinal stood as a sturdy symbol of a faith whose very existence challenges the Communist party.

By the same token, his liberation signals the faltering of that tyranny. In Hungary, as in Poland and to some extent East Germany, new symbols and rallying points are rising. Their emergence can only mean bad news for the Kremlin, and that is good news for free men.

Women Age 62

Sixty-two years has become an important age for women. This November a woman who is eligible for social security may, if she wishes, begin to collect monthly payments according to the 1956 amendment to the social security law.

There is, however, a slight hitch to the payment.

The longer a woman waits after reaching 62 and before age 65 to start getting payments the less the reduction in the monthly amount will be. If she chooses to collect at the now legal age of 62, she must accept 80 per cent of the weekly amount she would have received had she waited until she was 65. The longer she can put off collecting the payments, the more she will get up until the maximum rate paid at sixty-five.

For many women who really need the money, three years grace may be a godsend. The wise woman who can afford to wait until she is 65, will have a few more dollars each month.

The World Today—

Will Demo Collective Leadership Work?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The leaderless Democratic party is going to try a kind of collective leadership. The idea sounds reasonable. The question is: Will it work?

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler has invited 20 prominent party members — including Adlai Stevenson and former President Truman — to be advisers to the national committee's 11-man executive committee.

This is the intent: for the advisers to work with the committee in coordinating and advancing party programs and principles based on the 1956 Democratic platform—in short, a program for Democrats to put through Congress.

The result may be party splits and open arguments. The new arrangement may sap some of the congressional power of those two influential Texans: Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn.

For all practical purposes Johnson, Democratic leader in the Senate, and Rayburn, party leader in the House, will be the day-by-day active captains in Congress where any record the Democrats make must be established.

But already there is disagreement on what the Democrats in Congress should do when it opens up next month. At the moment the Democrats have no agreed plan of action.

Johnson has taken the position that the Democrats should wait to see what legislative recommendations Eisenhower offers before taking a position. As a starter, that doesn't sound very vigorous.

Two members of the national committee—Paul Ziffren of California and Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh — have openly disagreed with Johnson's let's-wait-and-see attitude.

They say the Democrats, instead of waiting for Eisenhower to show the way, should produce a program of their own. And Butler says that program should be based on the 1956 Democratic platform.

For the past two years, when the Democrats controlled Congress, Johnson was given credit for running the Senate smoothly. But he also was criticized for not having steered the Democrats toward more active challenge to Eisenhower.

Johnson is also in disagreement with six Northern Democratic senators who have said they will move on Congress' opening day, Jan. 3, for a change in Senate rules to make it easier to stop filibusters.

Johnson's fellow Southerners — so long as the present rule on debate exists—can smash with a filibuster or the threat of one any attempt by Northern Democrats or Republicans to put through civil rights legislation.

The Family Doctor—

Some Coffee Refreshes, But Do Not Overdo It

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Although I have written about coffee drinking on several occasions, this common habit comes in for a good many questions addressed to this column.

The main questions relate to a drug contained in coffee known as caffeine.

Caffeine is a drug with known actions on the human body. It affects particularly the nervous system, the heart and blood vessels. It is used by physicians (sometimes by direct introduction into the blood stream) when particular effects of caffeine are desired.

With such an active drug it is mildly astonishing that so many people can take so much coffee without producing more noticeable effects.

Coffee, as ordinarily consumed, acts as a mild stimulant. It increases the physical and mental energy and makes a person feel less tired. Perhaps other characteristics of coffee aid in this effect—the heat for example. But it is the caffeine which doubtless makes coffee drinking so pleasurable.

Some people, particularly those who live vigorous outdoor lives, seem to be able to drink almost unlimited amounts of coffee without noticing it. Others, especially those of a "nervous" temperament, find that coffee gives them headaches, digestive disturbances, interferes with the sleep or brings on other unpleasant symptoms. Such signs must be suspected as evidence of chronic poisoning.

E. P. asks several specific questions. He wants to know how coffee should be brewed to be most healthful. He says he is advised by friends that his health will eventually be affected by too much coffee. He also asks whether iced coffee in the summer has a different effect than hot coffee.

I doubt that the method of brewing coffee has much effect on the health except that any method which results in a stronger brew is likely to yield a coffee with somewhat more caffeine. Therefore, the effect of this drug would be increased.

Some people who stop coffee drinking get headaches or other symptoms. This suggests that they may be getting too much caffeine. Perhaps E. P. should try this on himself.

Finally, it seems unlikely that iced coffee in the summer has any different effect from any other coffee with the same caffeine content.

There is a good deal of difference between one person and another in tolerance to coffee. Even the same person may change. Witness those who do not appear affected in youth but who are kept awake at night when they are older if they drink coffee in the evening.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.

When our ancestors made their purchase by means of barter the flexibility of values and standards of worth were very difficult to establish. After money became available as a means of exchange there came to be a limited range of values for goods and services.

Although monetary values fluctuate with supply and demand, with economic conditions and with other variables, we can still measure relative worth in the material area of life.

Spiritual values are not determined in dollars and cents. However they are measured in personal satisfaction. We feel the blessing of God for our spiritual endeavors. We enjoy peace of mind and soul when we minister to others in the manner of God's teachings. We find ourselves well paid with love for our service to God's other creatures.

FDR Escaped Assassination During War, Book Reveals

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The life of the President of the United States is always in danger.

This fact is dramatized by the revelation of two attempts to assassinate former President Franklin D. Roosevelt, which have never before been told.

One of these attempts is revealed in an excellent new book called "The FBI Story," written by famed newsman Don Whitehead.

Don writes:

"As the number of prisoners of war in the United States climbed to 175,000 and then to more than 400,000, Hoover (J. Edgar) became increasingly concerned about the dangers of sabotage and espionage by escaped prisoners. At one time the prisoners were escaping at the rate of 75 a month."

At this time, the book reveals, an intelligence report came to the FBI here that there was a plan for mass escape by these prisoners and that an attempt would be made to assassinate President Roosevelt in the resultant confusion.

Needless to say, the plan was frustrated.

The other attempt on Roosevelt's life was at Yalta and included the planned assassination of Churchill and Stalin. It is told here for the first time.

It's the story of Hans Gergen Isenheim, a former German paratrooper who is now a U.S. Army employe in Bonn, Germany. Army officials say there is no reason to disbelieve Isenheim, and confirm the fact that he was a German paratrooper from almost the start of the war and served with great distinction.

The Secret Service and FBI here say they never heard of the plot. But that may be because as it turned out the Russian army frustrated the whole thing.

As Isenheim tells the story it was supposed to be a suicide mission of a handful of picked German paratroopers. Planes laden with dynamite were to crash land near the scene of the meetings of the Big Three leaders without exploding their ammunition.

Isenheim and the rest of his suicide squad were to remove the dynamite from the planes and rush toward the Yalta meeting place and try to blow it up. The plan was worked out in great detail, he says.

In fact, with typical German efficiency, the letter to his mother reporting his expected sure death was mailed before the plot was broken up. His mother who is still alive and runs an exclusive inn in Germany could hardly believe it when he showed up at home as the war was drawing to a close.

The fact that the Germans knew about the Yalta meeting is not new. It has already been told how German submarines tried desperately to sink U.S. ships on which Roosevelt sailed while he was in the European theater.

One of the reasons why the story of Isenheim's frustrated mission may not have been told is because the Russians were in charge of security for the affair and did not want it ever known that Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin were ever in any personal danger.

The German air force base at which this mission of assassination was being organized was near the Russian front, Isenheim tells. The men knew that something big was cooking and became alarmed when their food rations were suddenly increased. But they weren't told exactly what the mission was until a few days before they were to take off.

It was then that they were shown drawings of the area and given detailed instructions how to attack, Isenheim recalls.

The trouble was, his story goes, the Russians rushed at the base with a strong detachment of tanks. The paratroopers who were to kill Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill were pressed into the defense of the base and half of them were killed.

That ended the plot.

The Russians kept pushing the Germans rearward on that front and there was never any chance to put the mission into operation, Isenheim recalls.

"I WANT SOME water to put my little duck in," tiny Johnny told his mother.

"No," said his mother, "You can't have water for your duck in the house."

A few minutes later Johnny asked for a drink of water. His mother gave it to him and Johnny filled his mouth as full of water as he could get it, went in the living room and spit it all out in an ash tray. It made a swell pond for his little toy duck to swim around in.—H.L.

"I KNOW HOW to get money to Jesus," the small boy told his father one day.

"You do," said the father, "how?"

"Bury it," came the simple answer.

But it didn't sound so simple to his dad. "What do you mean, bury it?" the father asked.

"Well, when people die they bury them in the ground and then they go up to Heaven and to Jesus," he explained, "so if I bury the money it will go up to Heaven and to Jesus, too." —H.L.

FRUIT CAKE — baked in one-pound shortening cans.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Like rich - as - Croesus Fruit Cake? Then here's a recipe that is wonderful for holiday desserts. Cut the cake into small wedges and let your guests savor — with enormous satisfaction — the moist crumbly combination of fruit, nuts and batter.

These small fruit cakes look so pretty they're great to give for gifts. If you do this, be sure to include the slicing directions (given at the end of the recipe) with the cake.

OLD-FASHIONED BLACK FRUIT CAKE

Ingredients: 1/2 pound candied cherries, 1 pound golden raisins, 1/2 pound seedless raisins, 1/2 pound currants, 1/2 pound blanched almonds, 2 ounces slivered citron, 2 ounces mixed slivered candied orange and lemon peel, 2 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon allspice, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 cup golden shortening, 2 cups firmly-packed brown sugar, 4 eggs, 2 tablespoons molasses, 2 tablespoons cooking sherry, 2 tablespoons orange juice, 3 tablespoons vanilla.

Method: Prepare fruit and nuts. If citron, peel or raisins are hard, soften them by rinsing in warm water and steaming for 30 minutes. Mix fruit and nuts with 1/2 cup of the flour. Sift remaining 2 cups with the baking powder, soda and spices. In a large bowl cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs one at a time and beat well after each addition. Stir in molasses. Stir in dry ingredients alternately with the sherry, orange juice and vanilla. Spoon the batter into 1-pound shortening cans lined with heavy brown paper and greased. Put a shallow pan of hot water in bottom of oven (250 degrees) and bake the cakes for 1 1/2 hours, or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Remove cakes from cans to cake racks to cool. Top with a 1-inch thick layer of marzipan and ice with confectioners' sugar frosting. Decorate with nuts and fruit. Makes 6 pounds.

Note: Slice cake lengthwise down the center, so that you have two half-cylinders. Lay half-cylinder on its flat side and slice into wedges lengthwise, so each slice has a bit of the frosting.

MARZIPAN

Ingredients: 1 cup almond paste, 1 egg white (stiffly beaten), 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 1/2 to 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar.

Method: Mix almond paste and

Ruth Millett Says—

Beware of Old Wolves In Gray Flannel Suits

What can a single girl do when an older married wolf in her own office has his eye on her?

A 23-year-old secretary says she is embarrassed by the attentions of a 50-year-old executive who has a reputation for chasing every new girl who goes to work in the office.

She doesn't want to insult him or cause any unpleasantness but she would like to get the idea across that she isn't interested.

It may take a little time to convince a wolf who has been chasing girls for years that you aren't even slightly interested, but it can be done.

One of the most deflating tactics a young woman can use on an older man is to make him feel his age.

Be extremely polite to him in the deferential manner of a young person talking to an older person.

"Sir" him every chance you get. Don't make the mistake of calling him by his first name even if he has encouraged the other girls in the office to drop the "Mister."

Drop a few hints that give him the idea you have a young man you are interested in.

Don't let him take you out to lunch, buy you a drink, or do any favors for you.

If you keep up this routine for a few weeks, even a confirmed wolf ought to get the idea that you aren't going to be his latest Little Red Ridinghood.

Chances are he won't even resent your attitude. Wolves have thick skins. And besides a real wolf isn't going to waste too much time on one girl.

He'll probably just mark you up as a lost try and his eye will light on someone else.

You've got nothing to lose and a lot to gain by outwitting the married wolf in the gray flannel suit.

Minister's Medical Report

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—

A minister says too many churches are dead and don't know it. The Rev. Dr. Robert Spike, of the Congregational Christian Churches, told a church conference.

"There is always a need to examine the internal life of the fellowship to see if the heart is still beating or whether it is just the involuntary twitching of the muscles of a dead body."
